Having Forced Her Will on Greece, Europe Now Looks for Italians to Press Other Demands.

SITUATION ALARMS

Bellevue, Sept. 12.—The League of Nations today issued the issue of its competency to intervene in the Italian-Greek crisis.

London, Sept. 12.—Italy, having forced her will upon Greece, now is prepared to take military action, if necessary, to defend Italy's rights in France, disposes from Rome, Athens and the Balkans indicate.

A new Adriatic crisis, with Corfu and Plova as the immediate pawns and Italy, Greece, France and Albania as participants in a new conflict appears at hand.

Mussolini charges the Jugo-Slavs with seeking to take advantage of the Italian-Greek dispute to break a contract which gave most of Plova to Italy. The Slavs have declined any such intention, and insist they will abide by promises made, but reports from Athens, possibly inspired, declare that the Italian-Greek negotiations are under way.

The Athens correspondent of the Daily Chronicle writes:

"In Thessalonian are held in readiness, with steam up and heavy contingents of choice Italian troops (Continued on Page Two.)"

BURDEN OF PROOF IN THE CODE WRANGLE ON COMMONWEALTH

Judge Hargest Decides It Is Up to Woodruff to Prove That the Code Is Constitutional.

A SNYDER VICTORY

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 12.—The Commonwealth in its case against State Treasurer, Charles A. Snyder, was dealt a blow by the Dauphin County Court today when it was asked to show cause why a preliminary injunction should not be granted, restraining the Board of Finance and Revenue from functioning.

This action places the burden of proving the Administrative Code constitutional upon Attorney General Woodruff. Counsel for Snyder asked for the injunction today, contending the Code unconstitutional and President Judge Hargest admitted the Supreme Court has held that State officials can be restrained when the act is invalid. A rule of court was granted and deferred action on the injunction until mandamus writ is argued September 22nd when all of the issues involved will have complete airing.

Two further injunction suits were filed today by Counsel for Snyder, restraining the Board of Public Grounds and Buildings and State Workers Insurance Board.

SNYDER INJUNCTION STOPS MACHINERY OF THE NEW BOARD SET UP BY STATE CODE

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 12.—The Board of Finance and Revenue, with sweeping fiscal powers under the Administrative Code, is restrained in a preliminary injunction and suit filed yesterday by State Treasurer Charles A. Snyder.

The action was brought by Snyder as a taxpayer and not as an official to prevent Auditor General Lewis Secretary of State and Finance King and Attorney General Woodruff from sitting as members of the board.

The suit is the first play in equity of a series contemplated by Snyder to test the constitutionality of the Code, by holding up activities of the Board, created under it, which conflicts with powers and duties defined in the constitution. Attorney General Woodruff held an extended conference with Snyder on the court proceedings when matters pertaining to recommendations on the code test case were outlined.

Woodruff said today he does not question Snyder's right to hold up payment of salaries but believes his method of attack is at fault.

"I cannot see why the whole machinery of State Government must be upset to test the code; under which it functions, when there are other methods of bringing up questions of its validity," he declared.

National Memorial For President Harding Is Discussed By Coolidge

Washington, Sept. 12.—A national memorial to the late President Harding, to be erected at Marion, Ohio, his home, was discussed with President Coolidge today by Brigadier General Charles E. Sawyer, physician to the late President, and by Charles E. Dawes, close friend of Mr. Harding.

They discussed with Coolidge plans for launching a nation wide campaign to give everyone who desires it an opportunity to have a part in erecting the Harding memorial. Sawyer said that within a few days announcement will be made of plans for the memorial campaign.

Mrs. W. F. Powell and son Henry returned yesterday from a two month's visit in Ocean City, N. J.

POLITICAL POT BOILING

The "political pot" in Clearfield county was a long time "comin' to a boil" in this campaign, but that the boiling point has been reached at last is evidenced upon every hand, while surface indications seem to point in the direction of a real boiling over during the closing hours leading up to 7 o'clock on the morning of Tuesday, September 18th.

The campaign now nearing an end was a particularly listless one, due to the fact in part at least, that there is but one candidate on each ticket for the office of Register and Recorder and Prothonotary.

However, even the seventeen candidates—ten Republicans and seven Democrats—failed to stir things up enough in the early days of the campaign to interest the people as usual in the campaign for the important office of County Commissioner. But even this fight has warmed up perceptibly the past ten days and now a battle royal is on for the two first places in both parties.

The fight started with the field against the "old Board" and a seeming lot of adverse criticism to bank upon. But the fact of there being eight other candidates for the Republican nomination friends of these candidates say, seems to have served to divide this opposition, if such existed, and it is still the field against the "old Board."

The outcome, as is to be expected, with ten candidates in the field, is very hard to determine and one man's guess is as good as the others, so we refuse to hazard a guess.

The same might well be said in the Democratic battle, where seven men are battling for two places. Here the situation is identical with that in our party, the field is against the "old Board" member seeking re-election, with the large number of candidates serving to divide the opposition, if such opposition exists, as in the Republican ranks.

The Judgeship There are two candidates for the Judgeship nomination in each party and a real struggle on in both. The Democratic battle is red hot. The candidates, Judge Bell, for re-election and J. Frank Snyder, of the old law firm of Orvis & Snyder, which firm spread a great deal of legal history on the records of Clearfield county, when Attorney Snyder was in the heyday of his practice at the Clearfield county Bar.

What They Say The Bell forces are using the argument that because Mr. Snyder has not been an active practicing attorney in this county the past several years, he is therefore out of touch with judicial procedure and that for the Democratic party to nominate him and present his name to the voters of Clearfield county for President Judge would be like recommending a machinist who knew nothing about farming, to manage a farm.

The Snyder forces are using the argument, and creating a great deal of sentiment on the same, that Judge Bell made his campaign ten years ago upon the issue that ten years was long enough for any man for Judge of Clearfield County, and if elected he would not ask a second term, and therefore should not seek re-election. They further advance the argument that it is asking too much for two terms as Judge, and especially when after serving twenty years on the bench, under the law of the State of Pennsylvania, a Judge receives a Judge's Pension, one half the salary he received when he retires from the bench and it would be an additional burden upon the taxpayers to saddle them with a pension for a Judge, who had already and for so many years, been so well paid for his services.

The above are the stock arguments of the contending forces as the battle goes merrily on, and while we refuse to hazard a guess on nomination we do feel like saying that with our Democratic brethren it is a case of

of love's labor lost, as regardless of the outcome of the Democratic primary, the next President Judge of Clearfield county will be a Republican.

That gets us down to the Republican contest for the Judicial nomination. The contestants are A. Roy Chase, Esq., one of the most successful of the younger members of the Bar, and Hazard A. Murray, Esq., son of the late Hon. Thos. H. Murray. The candidates are members of two of Clearfield county's pioneer Republican families. Here again are we compelled to refrain from making a prediction as to the outcome. Each has elements of strength which the other does not possess. Mr. Chase's friends are urging his claims upon the ground that while his opponent has not been active along either legal or political lines the past few years, Chase has not only been interested in fifty to sixty per cent of the legal business of the Clearfield courts, but has been a tireless party worker and his efforts in this regard entitle him to recognition, now, that he is asking favor for himself. They point out that the Chase family is one of the largest family connections in Clearfield county, always staunchly loyal to the ticket nomination, yet but one of their member, Ed B. Chase, ever held a county office.

The Murray forces are equally as insistent upon the claims and rights of their candidate, asserting that he is a "chip off the old block" and point to the distinguished record of his father as a lawyer and to the fact that though not so active since his father's death, he was associated with him in his law practice for many years and is well grounded in the law.

Thus the contest rolls on toward the finish line of primary day, with each side confident of victory and feeling, as we said heretofore, that the man nominated at the Republican primary election on Tuesday, September 18th, 1923, will be the next President Judge of Clearfield county. And, again we say, it is even

SCIENTISTS ONE SECOND OFF IN COMPUTING TIME OF SUN ECLIPSE

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 12.—As the vast solar laboratory, into which southern California had been converted for the purpose of viewing the eclipse broke up today, scientists tallied the results of their tireless efforts and the expenditure of thousands of dollars.

While admitting the fog bound eclipse prevented them from obtaining any worthwhile photographic results with the possible exception of pictures that aviators, flying four miles high may have obtained, the following important observations were made:

1. A display of rosy colored hydrogen gas was recorded by Professor F. A. Mitchell of the University of Virginia, stationed at Lake Shide. Scientists take great interest in the discovery of new gas formation as helium was first observed on the sun, and later observed in smaller quantities on the earth.

2. An interesting demonstration of the sun on the earth's magnetic conditions, which may have an important bearing on future chart and compass work was made by Captain Ault of the Carnegie Institute of Washington.

During totality he noticed a distinct dip in the magnetic needle and found that the electrical conductivity of the air decreased 10 per cent.

3. Scientific calculations of the time of the eclipse, made years ago were one second off, the moon obscuring the sun one second before time.

While discouraging reports came in from nearly all the scientific parties who remained on terra firma, there was still hopes that when the films, taken by army aviators are developed, some valuable pictures may be secured.

SLIGHT FIRE AT J. G. LYTLE'S

A slight fire on the roof of J. G. Lytle's residence on Walnut street midway between Third and Fourth streets, called the firemen out about 3:10 Tuesday afternoon. The flames put up a very weak battle and were soon vanquished, but not before a considerable hole was burned in the roof at the rear end of the alley side of the building.

The fire was caused by a spark from the flue.

WOMEN'S POLITICAL MEETING THURSDAY EVENING WILL HEAR COUNTY CANDIDATES

MEN INVITED

Clearfield Council No. 1 of Republican Women under whose auspices the political mass meeting is being held at the Court House tomorrow evening, extend an invitation to the male voters of this vicinity to be present to hear the candidates.

Plans are complete for a rousing political meeting in the Court House tomorrow (Thursday evening), which will be held under the auspices of Clearfield Council No. 1 of Republican Women. The purposes of this organization which is stated wide in its application to politics was fully explained in our Monday issue but briefly it is to encourage women to take a greater part in the duties of citizenship.

All of the Republican candidates for office have been invited to be present, each to make a speech, and as this is a very important election, The Progress believes that a large number of women will avail themselves of the privileges of this opportunity to help them form opinions as to who is best qualified to lead their party to victory in November. Every woman in Clearfield is invited.

ATTENTION LUTHERANS!

We will hold our annual Harvest Home service next Sunday, Sept. 16th. The principal decoration will be jars of fruits and vegetables. These will later be sent to our Loysville Orphan's Home and to our local home. Every member of St. John's is urged to assist in this noble work by contributing something that may be sent, to help feed the orphan children. Goods may be sent to the church any time before Saturday night. If unable to bring or send your contribution call the pastor.

COL. STANYON, ABLE OFFICER OF S. A., LEAVES DISTRICT

The Progress learns with regret that Lieut. Colonel Thomas Stanyon of the Salvation Army, the man who directed the Salvation Army building fund campaign here recently, is leaving the post which gave him control of this district. Col. Stanyon was a man among men, a peer among peers. We wish him continued success. Following is a letter he has sent out to the executive committee of this city:

"The continued progress of The Salvation Army has once more made it necessary to create new headquarters for our activities.

In connection with this change, the Clearfield Corps will pass from under the supervision of myself and staff and become a part of the Northeastern Pennsylvania Division. The new headquarters will be located at Scranton, Penna., and Brigadier H. Bale, a Salvation Army officer of many years experience will be the Divisional Commander.

I appreciate what you have done as a member of our Advisory Board; realize changes of this kind only come about because of the interest of such men as you, and I sincerely hope you will find it a pleasure to continue as a member of The Salvation Army Advisory Board in your community.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. L. C.

The Ford Motor Company is earning at the rate of $9,500 a minute, according to a compilation based on an income statement for the four months ended June 30, which showed net income of $54,351,500. This is at the rate of close to $3,500,000 weekly, $432,930 daily and $56,616 hourly.

This income has been recorded despite a reduction from $90 to $43 in the profit per car the last year, solely because of the enormous increase in the number of automobiles sold.

The following letter received at this office on Monday and referred to this column for reply, is self-explanatory:

Westover, Pa., Sept. 8, 1923.
The Clearfield Progress,
Clearfield, Pa.
Gentlemen:—

The question of Pension for Judges is being much talked of in these days in this part of the county, and it seems no one knows just exactly what the law is or how it reads. Therefore I promised myself and friends that I would kindly ask you to publish this law as it appears on the statute books.

Yours very truly,
G. O. NEFF.

The Judge's Pension Law, of which our correspondent speaks was passed by the Legislature of 1919, and may be found in full on page 461 of Pennsylvania Laws for 1919. Section 2 of the act contains the information Mr. Neff seeks and is as follows:

"Any judge of the Supreme, Superior, common pleas, orphans', municipal, or county court, who shall have served in judicial office for twenty (20) years or more immediately prior to the date of his resignation or retirement, may resign or retire, and, if after his resignation or honorable retirement from office by expiration of term or otherwise he shall hold himself in readiness to advise with his successors and their colleagues, and to perform duties as special master, referee, auditor, or examiner, in such ways as he may be reasonably able to do, shall receive during the remainder of the term for which he was last elected, if he shall so long live, and during the remainder of his life after the expiration of the term for which he shall have been elected, a sum equal to one-half (1/2) of the salary which would have been paid to him had he continued in active service in such court."

While on this subject it might be well to add that the salary of the President Judge of Clearfield Co., is $10,000 per year, while a Judge receives, in addition to his salary, the sum of $20 per day and his expenses for every day he is engaged in holding court in any other county of the state, outside of his home county.

At Bari the Italians have embarked the 10th, 6th and 47th Infantry regiments for an unknown destination. The units are completely supplied with artillery and ammunition. Their destination is not known.

Officials in London consider the whole Balkan situation as alarming and fear Italy is ready to go to extreme ends to carry out her plans for making the Adriatic an Italian lake.

ADDRESSED OSCEOLA COMMERCIAL CLUB

County Road Superintendent Edgar J. Westcott, of Clearfield, addressed the Osceola Commercial Club last evening taking as his text the work of the State Highway Department in this section. He gave the Commercial Club some interesting insights into the manner of handling highway maintenance and construction and also spoke on the matter of highway signs. The address was chock full of worthwhile information, which was much appreciated by his hearers.

Following the meeting Mr. Westcott met the Osceola Borough Council and discussed local road problems with them.

DR. BUTLER BURIED TODAY

The remains of the late Dr. Henry S. Butler arrived in Clearfield on the 10 o'clock train this morning and were taken at once to the Presbyterian church where they remained in state until the time set for the funeral at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Many persons viewed the remains of Dr. Butler, who was generally esteemed and highly respected by all the people of Clearfield during his long ministry here.

Dr. J. Vernon Bell, of DuBois, a friend of two score years' standing, conducted the funeral services.

Dr. Butler was pastor in Clearfield when Dr. Bell began his ministry in Penfield forty-two years ago, and he showed such kindness to the young minister that a warm and enduring friendship was formed which has lasted through the years and is the principle reason for his being called on to officiate at the burial today.

Dr. Butler was pastor of the Presbyterian church in Clearfield for nearly twenty years, after which he went to Blairstown, N. J., and was pastor there and ex-officio President of the Board of Trustees of the well-known Blairstown Academy, for twenty or more years. Following that he moved to Tennessee, where with Mrs. Butler he carried on a most helpful construction work among the Mountain Whites of the South thus crowning an unusually useful life as a minister. Dr. Butler was over 83 years of age at the time of his death and for the past few years has been living in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Butler was very prominent as a minister, while in Clearfield, having convened the first meeting of the Synod of Pennsylvania when it was formed in Harrisburg out of five Synods which then existed in the state. He was chairman of the committee of Huntingdon Presbytery which organized the DuBois Presbyterian church.

Dr. Butler is survived by his widow, who was Miss Mary Mossop, of Clearfield before her marriage. Two sons and a daughter by his first marriage also survive.

Interment was made in the Old cemetery.

LAST LEGION DANCE AT PARK

The Major-Botts orchestra of Harrisburg, one of the finest musical organizations in the State of Pennsylvania, will furnish the music for the American Legion dance at the Clearfield Driving Park Thursday evening.

The leader of this orchestra, Prof. C. L. Major, is a former Clearfield boy who got his start in music right here in Clearfield. He will appear in person with his orchestra and will no doubt be given a splendid welcome to his old home town.

Thursday night's dance will be the last Legion dance held at the Park, for the remainder of the season. The Dimeling ball room will be utilized by the Legion for their dances.

Evidently Warm.

I was visiting with my sister and family, and while we were eating dinner one day little Paul looked up so funny with big tears standing in his blue eyes. His father asked what was the trouble, and Paul replied: "Me don't know, papa, it's going down cooked."—Exchange.

One dance enthusiast who heard Peck Mills orchestra play an engagement last week, wrote to the management of the Midway and said: "You need not hesitate for a moment in recommending Peck Mills Orchestra to your patrons. SELECT YOUR OWN CANDIDATES

The Progress has been importuned from time to time to take a part in the selection of party candidates for the various offices. Whether it should do so is a debatable question.

Truly it would be an ideal state of affairs if a newspaper of nearly five thousand circulation could, without fear or favor, discuss the merits and demerits of the candidates but our experience has been that in every such undertaking, motives have been questioned.

Most assuredly we could not be a party to the setting up of a candidate and of making an effort to put a candidate or set of candidates through solely on a basis of political expediency.

There are times and circumstances which warrant a newspaper taking a hand. Anxious office seekers and their henchmen, "kittles" of fish whose services are bought and paid for, become over-zealous and stoop to underhanded lying and cheating.

Unfortunately men with no regard for the truth, men who have that all is fair in politics and men who take keen delight in denigrating the reputation and character of political opponents for the advantage of our position and assail; without fear of public exposure, the opponent of their favorite with contemptible lies. Usually the one assailed does not hear of the things that have been said until the pernicious gossip, which rolls out as ripples on a placid lake, has permeated the whole community and there is no way to combat it and, in many cases, although these stories fall on fertile ears they are of such a ridiculous character that the candidate does not wish to dignify them with a denial.

Therefore, we do not propose to discuss the relative merits of the various candidates for public office. The people of this county are very able to select their officers if they will but go to the polls next Tuesday and do their duty. It would seem that a very safe plan would be for every man and every woman to do their own thinking and pay no attention to the tattletales and the gossip mongers.

There is entirely too much of this kind of campaigning right now. So long as there is no better foundation for some of the stories that we have heard than the mere fact of their having been told, the citizen who honestly desires to give every candidate fair play will weigh each aspirant to office on his merits, not on his demerits.

Turn a deaf ear to the tale bearer. Better yet, ask him or her to make affidavit to the fact and you will be able to observe the cut of their coat in the rear very promptly.

Every one of these candidates is asking for a job. You are being hired. Make the man fit the requirements of the office. For instance a County Commissioner is a business man and an executive.

He should be capable, experienced in business procedure. He should be honest.

He must have that breadth of vision that will enable him to see the whole county, not just a part of it.

He should be of that hard headed type which will demand a dollar's worth of value for every one hundred cents spent. This qualification overshadows all others as all other considerations are embraced in it.

What of the man you hire for Judge?

He must be learned in the law.

He should be a man who, by contact with the people, has learned the lessons which will enable him to apply the law with justice to all. Few laws are wrong but there are many wrong applications of law.

If you are satisfied on these two points you will, as a private citizen, weigh the candidates from other angles.

Quite naturally the personal equation will enter into your selection. You would like to see, sitting on the bench, the man you know as John, Harry or Bill. The fact that you knew him, and even more so the fact that he knew you, will be a very large consideration, and rightly so, for we all like the man whose acquaintance brings all to a level plane.

You will consider his general characteristics. Has he been ambitious, diligent, a worker? Has he been willing to turn his talents to the aid of the poor as well as to the rich? Remember the law was made to protect the weak from the strong.

What is his record for community endeavor? Has he given freely of his time and talent in those many community affairs where the only compensation is the knowledge of having done one's part as a citizen? True, this latter is not a judicial qualification, but people always want to reward service.

Finally, there is another consideration. Next Tuesday we do select a judge. We only select a Republican candidate and a Democratic candidate and the people will make the decision between the two next November. The primary, however, is no less important. Since candidates must be selected within the parties political considerations must not be forgotten.

Party government is fundamentally a part of our form of government, the great majority of our voting citizens being party adherents at heart, breaking over only when some candidate or candidates are particularly undesirable. Men and women who unselfishly devote themselves to work for their party over a period of years have a right to expect, other things being equal, a reward at the hands of their party members for their sacrifice of time and effort. When this reward is not forthcoming, party workers are discouraged and the party is weakened. Therefore, party interest and zeal which has been translated into action by sacrifice and labor, will be a big factor when Mr. Average Citizen makes up his mind.

Select Your Own Candidates.

TRINITY CHURCH EVENTS

Interest in the study of John Mark last Sunday was very manifest especially among the boys and girls. With a drop in school attendance, the offering exceeded the old figures.

The memorial to Miss Mary E. King, a very competent and highly esteemed teacher, began with singing her favorite hymns. Mrs. David R. Woolridge, a charter member of Miss King's class, read a noble tribute to her work as a teacher and Christian leader. Her relation to the Church, her character, the springs of her life and the method of her manifold service in the Kingdom were set forth by H. B. Powell.

For the Spring congregation, marked by the presence of strangers the pastor had an exposition from 1 Cor. 3:22, "Or Apollos," which was an interpretation of the uses of the Scriptures and the inerrancy of the Word of God. At night, the exposition presented "Or Cephas" who was the embodiment of experience, with its contribution to Religious Reality, freedom from prelaty, and proof of his supernatural. The application of his to the Church was quite direct and minute. Its credential of the divinity of Jesus Christ made a strong proposition.

At night the pastor reviewed the catastrophe of the Japan earthquake reciting the high points of an interview with those that knew the conditions, changes and extent of the disaster because of years of residence of a member of the family, returned a fortnight past on furlough from Yokohama, where he labored for 20 years.

This week's events: Wednesday, love-feast, preparatory to Holy Communion Sunday, followed by teacher's meeting and Sunday School board. Thursday, church, Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, election of officers and very special business. The sacrament offering next Sunday will be for the relief of Japan.

Progress Editorial For Women

THE "UPKEEP" OF SUFFRAGE

By FLORENCE DAVIES

Enter the woman of Alaska.

From every other part of the union

we have seen her take the stage, gracefully bearing her sheaves with her. Representation from every state in the union, from the territories and from the isles of the sea, is one of the soul stirring features of the big

National Federation biennials.

But here is a woman, Anne Furnjelm, who is Alaskan by birth, but is now a leader of the women of Finland, her adopted country. A congressman in the Finnish Republic is Miss Furnjelm, a student of International affairs, and one of the progressives who are bringing the world out from the shadows of the great war period.

And Miss Furnjelm, who speaks

English and says something when she speaks, sent out this message from the far away northern country where her lines are set. Says she, "To get suffrage is little, but to make something out of it is much harder and more important."

We have all heard things of that sort, but do we heed them enough?

It begins to look as though suffrage was one of those things of which people are wont to say, "It isn't the first cost that counts—it's the upkeep."

Not that it didn't cost the women and their successors who worked in season and out for the ballot. No sooner is the toll and the cost over than we forget the debt and smart. It is so easy to ignore the poorly kept food supply depot, the blue milk, the careless traffic, the lack of playgrounds, or whatever the special features of civic life that need watching may be.

And of course it costs to see that clean, straight candidates are prevailed upon to "enter politics," and then work for their election—all of which women are peculiarly pledged to do, as heirs of the long struggle for the power to say what they believe at the polls.

Perhaps the fact that a native Alaskan girl has grown up to be a power in Scandinavian affairs, and sends back her clear call to the women of the United States of America, may emphasize the importance of action, and vigilance, now and henceforth.

Curwensville's Own Column

The ladies of the American Legion Auxiliary have assumed the responsibility of erecting a Memorial Tablet in honor of our brave heroes who gave their services in the world war, also those noble veterans of the Civil and Spanish American wars who so valiantly left home, friends and loved ones to rectify universal matters for us. Those who enjoyed the comforts of the home fireside should with the less fervor endeavor to accomplish this well begun work. Some months ago an able committee of ladies was appointed to make a house to house canvass and secure the names of all world war soldiers who registered from our town (the other war veterans are no doubt on records which are available. If persistence this should appear to the eyes of our weaker sex who failed to complete their work will you not feel it your patriotic duty to trip over your territory, secure the required data and report at Tuesday night's meeting.

Borough Council met in active session last Monday evening and went through a lot of business that had accumulated on the docket and had been held over at previous sessions. The first question that came before council was the establishment of a free parking space out at the Park grounds. After considerable argument as to the advisability of such an action, the resolution covering the free parking project, passed the board unanimously. Messrs. John Weaver and J. W. Conway, residing on Susquehanna avenue, appeared before council and asked for permits to establish gasoline tanks at their respective places of business. Permission was refused, but the applicants were told to go and do as others before them had done, put in the tanks without permission, provided no objection was raised by people living in adjoining properties. A free gift of a new steel children's slide was reported as being placed. Fire Chief Benner was present and reported that 250 feet of new fire hose had been purchased and that 250 feet on hand be sent away for repairs. Request granted. The resignation of Harold Smith as one of borough's auditors was presented, read and accepted. The final settlement with Contractor Thompson came up and after some discussion the balance of money due him on paying account, was paid over to him. It is not likely that the paving of Thompson street will be attempted this season, as Council has not received a single bid for the work and the season had so far advanced that it was deemed unadvisable to attempt the work, even though bids were offered now. The above was about all of the real business that was transacted, excepting the drafting of vouchers for work and other services rendered for previous month.

Mrs. Alberry, of DuBois, has been a guest of Tom Sheridan and family several days this week.

Miss Ella Bloom one of the clerical force at the Spencer store has gone to Pittsburgh where she will spend the balance of the week with her brother Fred and his family.

Hardman Heitzner, an aged and respected citizen of Grampian and whose illness covered a period of more than a year, died at the family home yesterday morning at an early hour. (More extended notice will appear later.)

M. J. Kelly passed quietly away yesterday morning about two o'clock. He was in his 52d year. By his death Curwensville loses an honored and prosperous citizen and whose death while hardly unexpected, has cast a shadow of sorrow over the entire community. Mr. Kelly came to Curwensville about the year 1912 from Grampian where he had managed a hotel for some years. Purchasing the Samuel P. Arnold property, West State street, he removed from Grampian and has been a resident of this town since that time, making and keeping a host of warm and influential friends not only in this section but all over Clearfield county. He entered the coal fields as an operator and was interested in mines not only in this county but adjoining territory. Mr. Kelly was born and reared in or about Snow Shoe and was united in marriage to a young lady, Miss Smith, with whom he lived in perfect harmony and love during his earthly life. He was a sincere Catholic in faith and was always active in church work, contributing largely of his wealth. He is survived by his faithful wife and two daughters. Mr.

Kelly's illness dates back for more than a year. (Funeral date later.)

The State Highway people are hard at work on the stretch of highway lying between the brick yard and the upper end of State street. About 800 feet of concrete road bed has been put down, and no prevailing interference intervening between now and Saturday evening, the road will be finished to Floating Run.

Meander Brennetti, who has been an able instructor in a college at Morgantown, W. Va. is home on a vacation trip. Within the next week he will leave to take a special course of study at Princeton College.

The pool match at the Park House Monday evening was won by a professional named Clearwater, he defeating Sloppy, a local man, by some 10 odd points.

Several citizens residing over on the South Side have called our attention to the fact that some person or persons are monkeying with the water that flows into a public watering trough at the junction of Scofield street and the road coming out from the Penna. H. & L. tannery. Teamsters who have no place else to water their horses claim that the water is muddy and the trough filled with debris obnoxious to the nostrils of the animals and that they refuse to drink from that trough. There is a heavy penalty attached for this sort of misconduct and the offenders should be properly punished.

WILL ARRIVE HOME SATURDAY

A postcard from Dr. E. C. Reeve, who with his wife and daughter Rebecca, spent the past month at Magnetawan, Canada, informs us that they will start for home tomorrow and expect to reach Clearfield Saturday. Mrs. Reeve is much improved in health, we are pleased to be able to state.

DRIVE CAREFULLY

An automobile smash which resulted in badly battering up the rear end of a Ford touring car driven by Geo. Hallock occurred in front of Stewart's Drug Store on Market street about 1 o'clock today.

Hallock had his Ford parked in a stall in front of the Five and Ten cent store and backed out into the traffic as one of the Workman's Bakery trucks, driven by Dock Campbell, came along traveling down Market street.

The truck banged into the rear of the Ford, putting the rear end entirely out of commission by smashing up the wheels. The truck escaped without injury, except to the bumper, which was bent back against the front wheel but was soon straightened up.

A Near Accident

A lad coming home from school about the noon hour was grazed by a car and bumped over near the corner of Market and Third streets about noon. The machine which hit him had been parked along the street and was backing out when the boy was struck but the lad escaped injury.

Now that school has started again and the streets leading to the schools and in the central part of the town are jammed with children at morning, noon and evening, motor drivers should use extra caution when traveling through school zones.

NOTICE

It has been brought to my attention that persons are circulating reports throughout the County that I have withdrawn as a Candidate for President Judge of Clearfield County at the coming Primary, as well as numerous other stories of a similar nature. Such tactics are frequently used when a candidate is unable to correct any false or misleading statements. I wish to warn my friends throughout the County to beware of all such statements and to carefully investigate before voting. I am a candidate and expect to be nominated at the primary, and believe my record as a Judge justifies the voters of the County in supporting me.

All Armenian Wanted to Know.
Here is a Turkish story! An angel came upon a Christian, a Jew and an Armenian (the classification is Turkish), and offered each a boon. The Christian asked for power, and received it. The Jew asked for money and received it. The Armenian said "All I ask for is a little information: which one has the money?"

Papa Provided for Wigs.
A visitor in one of London's churches was puzzled a short time ago to see, at the back of the pulpit and on a level with the preacher's head, a wooden peg which appeared to belong to the pulpit woodwork. Similar pegs were to be found in other parts of the same church, and in many other city churches. They were used for hanging up the preacher's and the congregation's wigs.

Command of Power Vital.
The big, controlling fact in modern life is the command of power. Primitive man had his own muscles. A little later he learned to use wind and current, he began to tame animals, he took to the bad sidetrack of enslaving his own kind. But not till he learned to harness the forces of nature did he win to real earth mastery.—Chicago Journal.

Mr. Puresheart in Error.
Mr. Puresheart was excited. "I tell you," he said, "there's a drug den upstairs, over that store. Why, I've seen dozens—of women, mind you—go up there looking haggard, worn and old, and come down looking spirited and young, as if imbued with new life." "Drug den nothing," said Mr. Puresheart, "my such thing. That's a beauty parlor."

Cyrus Grandpa Were Wig.
Xenophon reports of seeing the grandfather of Cyrus wearing false hair, so that the custom may be traced to the Medes, among whom it is believed to have been in favor. The Cretan had apparently a weakness in that direction as the strangely frizzed heads of their statues indicate. And on the stage wig-wearers in vogue among the Greeks.

HEARD ALONG THE BANKS OF THE MOSHANNON

Willis Mastoe, of Gettysburg, was arrested here Monday by Chief of Police Daniel Brink and held in the local jail until Gettysburg police arrived and took him back to his home town to answer to the charge of taking a young girl to Harrisburg with him for immoral purposes. Mastoe is married.

Large contributions to the Japanese fund are pouring in with great rapidity. The Moshannon chapter quota is $150, and Tuesday evening $26.35 has been collected. It is expected the quota will be reached in a very short time.

At a special session of Centre County court held at Bellefonte Monday, J. G. Gerkke, of this place, was fined $100 and sentenced to one year in the county jail for violating the liquor law.

Another man held for violating the prohibition law was John Rodzynski of Meligan Hollow, in Rush township. His wife was also held on the same charge. The husband was sentenced to serve three months in the county jail and his wife was paroled. The latter occurred when it was found the couple had several small children that needed care.

Emory Howe, of Munson, who was arrested in Philadelphia for driving a car while intoxicated was also paroled.

The Williamsport Baseball Club, champions of the New York-Pennsylvania league, defeated the local 4th Street by a 7-0 score, in a lively game at Phillipsburg Monday evening. A large crowd of spectators witnessed the game, the proceeds of the game to go to the building fund of the local Cottage State hospital.

The mechanic at the Hoffman & Bink ice cream factory here was held up and robbed of $15 about 7:30 Tuesday evening near the railroad tower at the slaughter house of the Pennsylvania Beef Company's plant. The intruders failed to search any more than one of his pockets, the victim having a roll of bills in his inside coat pocket. This is the first such hold up in this section in a long while. The robbers escaped.

Paul Griffin and Miss Dorothy Kasper of Bradford township, Clearfield county, were married Sept. 5th at Clearfield. Both are popular young people and will start on their new role of life with the best wishes of their many friends.

Both Gray, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gray, of Houtzdale, was struck by an automobile at this place Friday evening and sustained a fracture of the skull and crushed right leg. She was brought to the Cottage State hospital here and died at 9:10, an hour after being admitted.

No Comm. "Where do we find the most miserable man?" exclaimed the exhorter Monday. "You don't have to find him," responded the man in the fourth row of the audience, "he sits you up and tells you all about it."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Did You Know That—As a rhyme in St. Nicholas points out the owl is most ungrammatical in saying "To who? to who?" instead of "to whom? to whom?" But then you can't expect much from an owl, and even less from a booby owl!

The venerable John B. Rougeux left Monday for Akron, Ohio, to reside with his daughter Mrs. Guderhan.

Covington township has put its roads in very good shape by hand power in spite of the fact that the taxpayers were called upon to buy a $2,250 tractor to operate the grader, which has been a roosting place for robins since April.

Farmers throughout the upper section of Covington twp. were surprised last week when agents of the Columbus Gas & Oil Co., who hold Oil and Gas leases appeared and distributed checks in payment of the first rental on the same. Quite a sum of money was handed out to the astonished natives who had forgotten all about it. Early development is promised by the representatives of the Co.

The epidemic of typhoid fever which has been prevalent at Kautaus for two months has spread to Covington township, there being two cases in the family of Edgar Vallamont of Coudley R. D.

Would Repair the Damage.

One day a small boy living next door carried a quantity of soft mud upon our back walk and was busily engaged in making mud pies. I suggested to him that he play some place else, as I did not like mud on my walk. He replied, gallantly: "Well, I'll broom it."—Chicago Tribune.

BENEFIT GAME SATURDAY

The baseball season is rapidly drawing to a close, but before it ends in Clearfield the American Legion will stage a benefit game for Jimmy Almond and Guy Cowdick, both of whom suffered injuries while playing with the local team.

The game is set for Saturday, September 15th, and all fans who can possibly do so are urged to attend the game. And if you cannot attend the game, you can at least try a ticket.

Jimmy Almond, the Phillipsburg catcher, had a finger broken at the Park three or four weeks ago and has been unable to work ever since or until very recently. Cowdick broke his leg at Idamar more than three weeks ago and is just able to be about on crutches.

Give the boys a benefit by purchasing a ticket to the game.

REPRESENTATIVE MADDON AS

Washington, Sept. 12.—Representative Martin Madden of Illinois, who was stricken with heart attack this week, was reported by his physicians today to be resting easy at his home. Madden, chairman of the House appropriations committee, is still in a serious condition, however.

Display Of 30,000 Specimens Of Rare Coins At The Clearfield Trust Company Should Be Seen By Everyone: One Time Value Of 50 Million

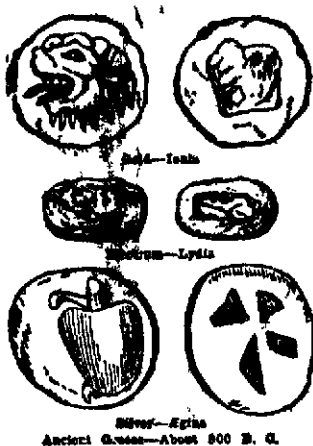

A mere fraction of a penny has been seen by many a man and woman. The fact that small amount of money has been seen by many of the people before their eyes. In like manner an abundance of money has been the root of a great deal of evil and graveyards are full of people who have eaten their way to the bottom of the barrel. This latter condition does not seem to worry Mr. Zerbe, who has his collection of 30,000 coins, worth millions in original value, at the Clearfield Trust Company this week. Those who have seen Mr. Zerbe's collection are amazed at his collection, wondering how he could possibly gather such an exhibit together within a life time. It is being shown to the public from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m., Thursday and Friday.

A life time has been spent by Mr. Zerbe and plenty of money in preparing this collection. It has taken over 40 years and Mr. Zerbe stated that he considers a day lost when he does not get some new specimen. The collection is right up to the minute in every detail and whenever a new piece of money is added in any country it is added to the collection as soon as it can be secured.

Probably great interest will be shown in the largest piece of money which has been known to man. That is a Swedish coin, ten inches square clearly seen from the money used, according to Mr. Zerbe. Almost every conceivable mineral or material has at one time or the other been used as money, said Mr. Zerbe, and this is most clearly seen from the exhibit.

The exhibition will be stressed in the public schools and it is planned to have every school child view the great collection during its stay here.

Ancient Coins—About 500 B. C.

The collection is being presented to the public of this city through the courtesy of the Alliance First National bank.

The exhibit opens Tuesday and remains open each day from 9:00 to 4:00; closes on Friday at 4 o'clock. A special exhibition will be given Thursday night for those who cannot attend during the day, from 7:00 to 9:00.

Mr. Zerbe will gladly give any information relative to coins you bring to him. Submit pocket pieces and old coins for his valued opinion and fact information.

The collector has invited school children to call by classes at any time.

Curwensville's Own Column

The Indian Medicine show, conducted on the rear of the Park House, was attended by a goodly portion of Curwensville people, who were there to hear the medicine men and see the dancing performances, than to listen to medicine that they did not know anything about.

Hon. Jacob Kantar, writing in his A Nation Legion column, (has told the reader to believe that he is not one of the most capable) has this complimentary testimony among several others: "We don't know much about Yellow Dogs, but if they are built of the same stuff they things with joy and spirit, to that which is inherently there and continue to play the part of guardian of civil government and public welfare they are entitled to every legitimate recognition and support you can offer." Again, "It was not this which put the Labor Day celebration over but spots that carried a tune of harmony and united over 900 substantial citizens in earnest determination to be of service to their fellow men and their community."

Isaac Kantar was in New York and other eastern markets, about all of last week purchasing the fall stock of goods for his chain of stores.

We have often heard it remarked and wondered at it ourselves, why Curwensville did not support a first class Glee Club. The town has a host of vocal musicians, both male and female, and of the male outfit, we hesitate not in mentioning a few such as Obe and Verne Bloom, Wm. Hille, Jas Edmiston, Wm. Hille, Geo. Jenner, R. E. Way, Harry Brown and Al Frank, besides a host of others. The people of Curwensville would certainly appreciate such music as these gentlemen could make. Give it a trial.

Two automobile wrecks in the record in this borough for Sunday. The first one was on Filbert street. A young colored lady hopped into the car of a friend, and wanted to see how the machinery worked. She ac-identally kicked the brake loose and the car started down the street. She became frightened and jumped out of the car and the John Henry undertook a trip on its own accord. The car ran in a straight line for a short distance and then swerved to the left, jumping onto the sidewalk and struck the wall of Mike Kovach's domicile; then not satisfied, caromed off and landed on the Karstetter front porch, knocking down three props from under the roof. The owner of the vehicle, who by the way was a colored gemman from the county seat, arrived and after viewing the damage done forked over $40.00 to Karstetter to repair damage and escape arrest. The second smash occurred over on South Side where a young man named Patterson ran into a car operated by a young fellow named Logan from Clearfield. The damage done was slight.

Samuel J. McKenrick, Hugh McKenrick, Misses Irene and Ruth McKenrick, returned Sunday from a week's trip to Gettysburg, Baltimore and other eastern points. Adams county is the native home of the other McKenrick.

GIANT POWER PLANT FOR STATE GETTING UNDER WAY RAPIDLY

By S. P. HOLLINGSWORTH
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Harrisburg, Sept. 8.—The famous phrase: "If the mountain does not come to Mohammed, Mohammed will go to the mountain," has its application to the giant power plans of Governor Pinchot in relation to the fuel problem—the coal industry, in this case, being the mountain.

Governor Pinchot plans to bring the consumers of coal, including hundreds of thousands of urban, suburban and rural dwellers, directly to the source of supply at the mines by high powered generators and transmission lines for electro-energy.

This plan, incorporated in the work of the Giant Power Survey, launched recently, he regards as of utmost importance as a permanent solution of the coal problem.

It will take several years for the plans to bear fruit but with the public demand for a readjustment of the industry which furnishes the power and heat of the nation, Governor Pinchot is confident he is on the right track in seeking the aid of science to provide a more equitable distribution of mineral resources.

The object of the power survey in terms of the ultimate good to result from widespread use of electricity generated at the mines may be summed up like this:

1. To stabilize the coal industry by increasing the demand in the generation of power on a large scale at the mines, assuming continued employment.

2. To effect economies by utilization of waste coal and its by-products and reducing the ultimate cost to the consumer by large scale production and elimination of huge transportation costs.

3. To encourage use in farms, factories and homes, of electric current for power and heat, made possible by low rates.

It can be seen that the accomplishment of this purpose provides a cycle of benefit, to labor, to employers and management as well as to the general public.

Secretary of Forests and Waters Robert Y. Stuart, member of the Power Board and its secretary, said the plan is, more than practicable; it is possible. "In Canada, the people have been getting electricity so cheap they are able to use it for every purpose, even cooking. If they can accomplish that from water power resources, certainly with the coal resources of this state it should be possible to accomplish as much if not more."

Morris L. Cook, director of the survey, and Robert H. Fernald, engineer, member of the board, both appointed recently, are working out the initial plans for the survey which embraces not only the work of this state but that of other states along this line. The federal investigations and state reports are in their hands and they are trying to ascertain a line of approach to the problem based on data that has been secured without going again over the same ground.

Close to the Truth.
A friend came to visit us one evening and became much attached to my little niece who is three years old. She was asked: "How would you like to visit me some time, dear? I live in a big boarding house." The child replied quickly: "Oh, I know what that is. You sit alone in one room and eat in the basement."—Exchange

TRUTH TRIUMPHS

Clearfield Citizens Testify for the Public Benefit

A truthful statement of a Clearfield citizen, given in his own words, should convince the most skeptical about the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills. If you suffer backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, urinary disorders or any form of kidney ills, use a tested kidney medicine.

A Clearfield citizen tells of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Could you demand more convincing proof of merit? Ask your neighbor!

Lewis E. Wise, mine, 404 River St., Clearfield, says: "While working in the mines I was caught with a pain in my back. I couldn't do any lifting or anything that caused me to bend over. I had no appetite and the pains in my limbs were severe. Doan's Kidney Pills being highly recommended to me I began their use and I noticed a change in my condition before taking half a box. On finishing two boxes of Doan's the pains in my back and lameness were all gone."

NOTE—Remington Game Loads are loaded exclusively in "Nitro Club" Waterproof Shells. Waterproof means just what it says.

Why Dealers Here in Town are selling so many Remington Game Loads

It doesn't take sportsmen long to get the ins and outs of anything new that's offered them.

When Remington announced the Remington Game Loads last year, not all the men who wanted to try them could do so. Because it was their first year and there weren't enough to go 'round.

But those who did shoot them told the others, and this season there is a demand for Remington Game Loads that has never been approached in the history of the loaded shell business.

Whether you are already a Game Load enthusiast or have yet to shoot your first box—you will be interested in the facts about powder we uncovered in our Bridgeport tests on loaded shells. These are given in the panel at the right.

To the practical minds of the Remington organization, these discoveries indicated that there was just one thing to be done—

Fix a safe working standard of velocity, pattern and penetration for each kind of small game.

Make this standard absolute. And load just the right amount of powder to give it—whether it takes an eighth dram more or an eighth dram less.

That is the theory and practice of game loads.

Uniform shooting results—instead of a hard and fast loading formula. Powder varies—Remington Game Loads do not.

Naturally, you won't find the weight of powder indicated on Remington Game Load boxes—because the weight is not fixed.

You do not find the name of the powder because Remington takes full responsibility for the shell complete—including the powder.

Go to your dealer's. Get one box of Remington Game Loads and shoot them. We'll leave the rest up to your judgment.

REMINGTON ARMS COMPANY, Inc.—New York City
Established 1816

These are the Facts disclosed by Remington's Ballistic Tests

A—A given weight of the same kind of powder doesn't always give the same velocity, pattern or penetration.

B—Powder varies batch by batch—even the same kind and make. One batch, for instance, gives a velocity of 525 feet per second. Another may fall as low as 540 feet per second.

C—This is nobody's fault. Powder comes that way.

D—The man who buys his shells by the weight and kind of powder—often misses a lot of game and never knows why.

For Cramps.
Massage will usually instantly afford relief, also rubbing with a soft piece of flannel, dipped in alcohol. Another suggestion is to tie the affected part with a ribbon so as to stop the circulation for a little while. Compresses, either of hot or cold water, will be found to be very effective. If the cramp is in the leg, place the foot on the cold floor or stretch out the toes of the suffering foot, just when the cramp is starting.

The twelve-year-old twins learned a lesson in gift making when they poked fun at their five-year-old brother. 20 PER CENT OF NEW BOND ISSUE IS TO BE MATCHED BY COUNTY

Harrisburg, Sept. 10.—Paul D. Wright, Secretary of Highways, today said that if the voters of Pennsylvania in November approve the proposed $50,000,000 bond issue twenty per cent of that sum will be set aside by the Highway Department with which to meet the various counties on a 50-50 basis.

"If the proposed new bond issue of $50,000,000 is approved," said Mr. Wright, "$10,000,000 will be allocated to the counties on the same basis that the state-aid fund is allocated, and this money will be used on a 50-50 basis with individual counties in reconstruction or justified reconstruction on state highways."

Under the law state-aid funds are "ratably apportioned according to the mileage of township and county roads in the respective counties," in the ratio which this mileage bears to the total road mileage in the state.

On the November election ballot will be found four proposed constitutional amendments. The second of these four will provide for increasing the present bonded indebtedness of the state from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000, thereby giving another $50,000,000 to the Highway Department for road construction.

The first $50,000,000 has been expended. It was authorized by the voters in 1918, by a majority of 262,000. Since 1919 Pennsylvania has come from the mud to a place pre-eminent among American states.

Some weeks ago the Highway Department announced a 275-mile road construction program, to be completed late in 1924. This will exhaust all available funds. To continue road construction beyond that point it will be necessary to provide additional funds.

"I have no doubt," said Mr. Wright, "that when the time comes for the various Pennsylvania counties to meet the $10,000,000 on the 50-50 basis decided upon the various allocations will be met instantly. This construction, tying in with the primary highway system work, will hasten the day when Pennsylvania will have the best highway system in America."

No Use to Him.
The prisoner threw the magazines across his cell in disgust and cursed eloquently. "Nothing but continued stories," he growled. "I'm to be hung next Tuesday."—Chicago Herald.

Why Teachers Go Home.
"There were no Christmas among the Gauls," was one answer received in a recent grammar school history examination, "they were mostly lawyers." Said another: "A blizzard is the inside of a hen."

When Justice Cost Less.
Records of a justice of the peace in Butler county, Ohio, show more than a century ago, show that the magistrate's fee was then 12 1/2 cents in all cases, and that civil actions were brought over sums of less than $1. The possessor of these records also has a wall clock known to have been in use 120 years, with the aid of no repairs but a pair of new winding ropes.

TAKE ACTION ON PREVENTION OF HIGH COAL PRICE

Harrisburg, Sept. 10.—Speaking as the chief executive of the only anthracite producing state, Governor Pinchot today called upon the governors of 30 other anthracite consuming states to join him in seeking methods of safeguarding coal users against higher prices during the coming winter.

In a letter to the governors in which he told them he is directing an investigation in his own state of "means or methods of any and every kind which could be used to prevent gouging of the consumer" he suggested similar studies in each of the other states looking toward a personal conference concerning joint action later.

To Quiz Freight Rates. As an initial step in his own investigation he conferred with Chairman W. D. B. Ainsy or the Pennsylvania public service commission, which body he told President Coolidge in a letter last night he would ask to make a study of the reasonableness of anthracite freight rates within the state. He suggested to the President that the chief interstate commerce commission make a similar investigation of transportation rates of hard coal with a view to their readjustment.

The certain other factors, he pointed out in his letter to the governors, are so local, outside action could not influence them while there are others upon which joint action of the governors "would be useful in preventing extortion." Among the more local matters to which Governor Pinchot referred are the profits of coal dealers, such as wholesalers, retailers, jobbers and distributors.

Confer With Mine Bureau. The Governor also conferred today with officials of the state department of Mines which tonight made public figures of the annual distribution of anthracite from Pennsylvania to the largest consumers of coal among the states. These figures in tons were:

New York, 11,850,000; New Jersey, 7,250,000; Massachusetts, 3,490,000; Illinois, 1,789,000; Connecticut, 1,637,000; Wisconsin, 1,320,000; Michigan, 1,000,000; Maryland, 870,000; Minnesota, 700,000; Rhode Island, 590,000; and the District of Columbia, 530,000.

The figures were based on 1922 exports. They included 7,250,000 tons consumed in Pennsylvania.

Write Other States. Besides the governors of these states Mr. Pinchot sent his letter to the chief executives of the other New England states, and those of Delaware, Virginia and West Virginia, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Missouri, Nebraska, North and South Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Tennessee, Texas and Alabama.

Plans for a joint conference of the governors are indefinite and dependent, it was indicated, upon the results of the action they may take in response to Governor Pinchot's letter. No immediate preparations will be made for a meeting and it was said at the state capital none probably would be made until the return to Harrisburg of the Governor, who left late today for a two weeks' vacation.

Lewis Supports Pinchot. President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers today sent a letter to President Coolidge, supporting the suggestion of Governor Pin-

MILK INSPECTORS OF ALL CITIES TO BE SENT TO BIG DAIRY CONGRESS

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 11.—Secretary of Agriculture, Frank Willits in receipt of an invitation which, in the interest of a better milk supply, he is passing on to the mayor of every city in Pennsylvania, proposing that the chief inspector or chemist of each municipality's dairy in-spedition staff be sent to the World's Dairy Congress. Thirty-nine nations will be represented at the Congress sessions, according to the most recent world received by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture from World's Dairy Congress officials. Two hundred or more men and women who have attained preeminence in the production, manufacture, distribution and use in human feeding of milk and its products will speak. Emphasis is to be laid on the most modern and effective means of guarding the milk supplies of cities, a subject which Secretary Willits considers to be of vital importance to city inspection office.

The opening sessions of the Dairy Congress will be held at Washington, D. C., on October 2 and 3. The meetings will be continued in Philadelphia on October 4 and at a banquet to be held in connection with the assembly at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Governor Pinchot will make an address.

The Truth About Wheat

Because a lot of folks still look upon wheat as the real index of national farm prosperity, I want to pass on some facts, just as I got them from

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

Our total production of corn, cotton and hay is greater than wheat. And fruit is worth about as much. The value of livestock and dairy products surpasses that of wheat. Obviously wheat has lost the position it once held as an index factor.

The Country Gentleman sympathizes with the exclusive wheat farmer—and in forthcoming issues will offer him many worthwhile suggestions. So also will this great national weekly offer money-making facts and plans for those engaged in practically every other branch of farming. Farm women and the children, too, will receive their full share of the help and entertainment which makes The Country Gentleman welcome in 850,000 homes. For 52 big, bright issues the price is only one dollar.

From October 5 to 10 the Congress will convene at Syracuse, N. Y., and adjourn to attend the sessions of the Congress, Secretary Willits points out that, notwithstanding the efficiency of milk inspection services in the cities of Pennsylvania, it would materially contribute to their improvement if the chief inspector or chemist of each city could attend these important meetings and bring back to his municipality the latest developments in the field of government control.

THE CROW DOOMED TO EXTINCTION BY FARMER AND SPORTSMAN; PREYS ON YOUNG CHICKS AS WELL AS WILD BIRDS

It has been estimated that each crow in the country destroys at least 12 eggs of useful game birds in the course of a year. Based on this statement alone, the evidence is sufficient to indicate this greatest of black-plumaged plunders.

For many years past little or no attention has been paid to the depredations of the crow. Sportsmen took a passing shot; the farmer rigged up a contraption of one kind or another in the cornfield and let the matter go at that.

Time has changed. Game is getting scarcer every year. The sportsman is beginning to realize at last that conservation must be considered and has commenced to take inventory of the causes that are fast helping to reduce the number of game birds to be found afield.

Of the many influences at work to depopulate the wild bird world the crow easily heads the list. Other vermin there are that prey on eggs and young birds, but of these the crow is the worst offender.

Statistics gathered by the United States Department of Agriculture, the various conservation organizations, by farmers and sportsmen in all parts of the country, prove beyond any doubt that the crow is a genuine menace.

Most of us who have simply looked upon the crow as an innocent sort of chap, noted chiefly for an alleged ability to fly in a straight line, will be astonished to get a real insight of this cunning, ill-mannered rascal.

Crow is a Menace
The counts on which this indictment is found cover the entire range of rascality. Nothing is too good for this devastating bird, nothing too small, nothing, even carrion, is beyond the scope of his appetite. As a robber of nests of game birds and destroyer of hens' eggs the crow has earned an unenviable reputation. But this is only the beginning. The crow has been definitely known to destroy pigeons, the young of wildfowl, every species of marsh bird and upland game, even including rabbits.

When the snow is deep the crow will attack full-grown quail and even barnyard fowls. They damage corn and have been known to flock to orchards to feed upon apples, pears and other fruits.

Sportsmen of the country are espousing the extermination of the crow or at least removing a few millions of him until reparation, partly at least, can be had for the damage already done.

The crow's appetite knows no closed season—He's hunting all the time—night and day this marauder is at work reducing the numbers of game birds.

Most farmers consider the crow a genuine pest, else why the scarecrow in nearly every field. Sportsmen from knowledge of actual conditions, such as finding the crow's nest littered with broken shells of unborn birds, have come to the conclusion that the day of the crow must cease. The sportsmen of the nation, pleading before the court of conservation ask for

EFFICIENCY IN MAN'S LOVE AFFAIRS WILL CAUSE HIM TROUBLE

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 9.—Love letters from women in various parts of the country, discussing matrimony and a love diary, giving the financial rating and state of health of an heiress's list and strange documents were found by police, who raided the room of a man suspected of being Dr. Percival Allen.

The suspect is held here to face a verdict of guilty as charged. The indictment of the crow is unanimous. Sportsmen everywhere are attending to the sentence.

murder charge arising over the poisoning of pretty Anne Danielson, wealthy Minneapolis girl.

The suspect refuses to talk about the charge or the diary but police allege that he courted Ellen Ross of Rochester, Minnesota, while having been through a marriage ceremony with Belle Parker, a preacher's daughter of Evansville, Wisconsin.

Police also say that they discovered what appears to be a form letter for use, in proposing to members of the heiress list. This list contains names of girls, with the amounts of their prospective wealth, health, and philanthropy.

Judge Bell's Pledge

In a letter to the voters of Clearfield County dated October 15, 1913, Singleton Bell, then a candidate for Judge, said:

The voters of this County have twice spoken their will against two terms for Judges, and I believe that the voice of the people was right. In a position of such power, the temptation to use its influence to build up a machine that will secure the re-election of the incumbent has often proved too strong to be resisted and that I may have no temptation to use the place for personal political purposes I PLEDGE MYSELF TO NOT BE A CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION.

THE PENSION LAW

"Any judge of the Supreme, Superior, common pleas, orphans', municipal, or county court, who shall have served in judicial office for twenty (20) years or more immediately prior to the date of his resignation or retirement, may resign or retire, and, if after his resignation or honorable retirement from office by expiration of term or otherwise he shall hold himself in readiness to advise with his successors and their colleagues, and to perform duties as special master, referee, auditor, or examiner, in such ways as he may be reasonably able to do, shall receive during the remainder of the term for which he was last elected, if he shall so long live, and during the remainder of his life after the expiration of the term for which he shall have been elected, a sum equal to one-half (1/2) of the salary which would have been paid to him had he continued in active service in such court."

"Trade With The Boys"

PROPER FOOD FIRST REQUISITE OF BOY AND GIRL GOING TO SCHOOL

Harrisburg, Sept. 11. (United Press)—The human engine must be stoked with fuel of the proper kind and in the right quantity if it is to perform its work. Dr. Charles J. Hatfield, Philadelphia, director of Phipps Institute, declared today in an article on "Malnutrition" written for the State Department of Health in the weekly health talks instituted by Secretary Charles H. Miner. The article follows.

By Dr. CHARLES J. HATFIELD
Written for Penna Department of Health.

With the opening of the school term, the subject of malnutrition and its attendant dangers occupies the minds of teachers and public health workers.

Malnutrition is impaired assimilation of food and therefore inadequate nourishment of the body. It may be too little food or food of such kind that it cannot be changed into the elements which sustain and build up the body.

The effects of malnutrition can be seen everywhere. It brings about lowered resistance to any infection; it causes weakness of muscles, even heart muscles, also of brain, lungs, stomach, liver, bowels, in fact all parts of the body. No one who is poorly nourished can expect to live as long or be as active as the average healthy person.

Among adults malnutrition is widespread and serious. For this reason the campaign begun by the State Department of Health to get every man and woman in the state to have the best doctor in the neighborhood give them a complete examination at least once a year is most important. If there be poor nutrition the cause can be found and the condition corrected.

But from the standpoint of community welfare the children are of even more importance than the grown people. If we allow many of the children of the state to suffer from improper nourishment, we shall have a weakened population, short-lived because they cannot resist disease and later, if they in turn become parents, the new generation will be weak. Therefore, the present interest in nutrition among children of pre-school age is sound. School and health authorities should see to it that every child have a chance for a well-nourished body.

chairman red fire committee. Others be named later.

J. M. Fay was named chairman of a committee to select an official headgear for the helmet, which will probably be worn at the ceremonial.

The cubs, each wearing yellow chrysanthemums, will meet at the Cricket field at 6:30 p. m. and at 7 o'clock sharp will march in an illuminated parade, moving from the Cricket field to Lexington avenue, to Ninth street, to Chestnut avenue, to Eleventh street, to Eleventh avenue, to Seventeenth street, to Sixth avenue, to Seventh street, to Jaffa Temple, where the ceremonial will be held at 8 o'clock.

The executive committee will meet at Bowers' barber shop on the evening of Thursday, September 13, to arrange further details and also complete plans for a ceremonial to be held at the Elks' home Friday, September 14.

Would Satisfy Him.

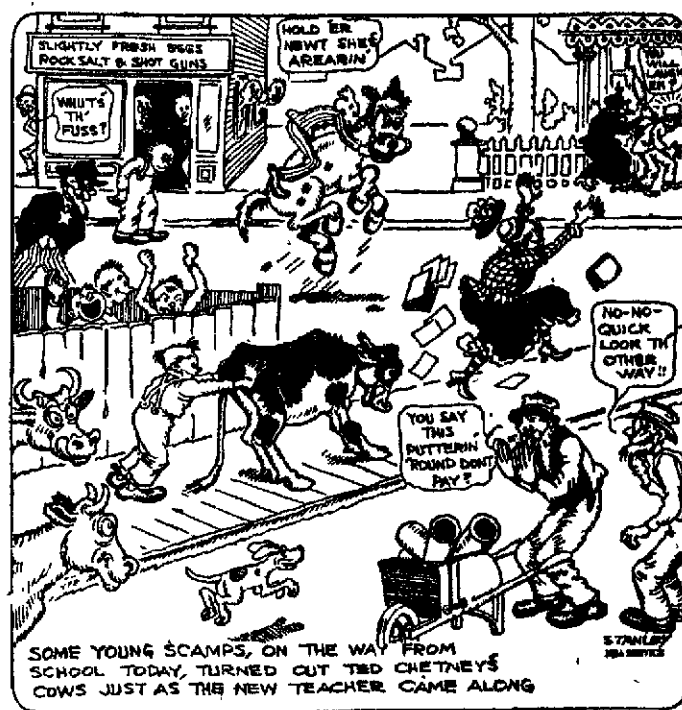

To the young man who sat timidly in a corner telling a handsome young woman 15 feet away that he would cross the world for her, she coyly said that she'd be satisfied if he simply crossed the rug.

Daily Thought.
The most manifest sign of wisdom is continual cheerfulness; such a state and condition, like things in the regions above the moon, is always real and serene.—Montaigne.

Shows Up Defects.
A man who has struggled into the glare of the spotlight may find that it reveals defects more relentlessly than an X-ray machine.

Principles and Sentiments.
I have all reverence for principles which grow out of sentiments; but as to sentiments which grow out of principles, you shall scarcely build a house of cards thereon.—Lamb

Firm, Plump Flesh!

MANY are the eyes that are turned to gaze with keen admiration on the well developed, healthy girl no matter where she may be—on the rapidly moving thoroughfare or gliding gracefully over the dance floor.

All eyes turn because we all appreciate the girl with the figure so firm and plump—the girl with radiantly red cheeks, cheeks that carry a touch of rose from nature's own garden—the girl with the sparkling eyes, keen and sharp—the girl with buoyancy and the swing of youth.

Not necessarily an out-of-door girl. Just a girl with ever increasing blood cells. Just a girl filled with the vim and vigor of youth.

S. S. S. since 1859, has stood for increased blood cells. S. S. S. means restored strength—rekindled vitality—added energy. The S. S. S. can watch the bloom of youth return to your cheeks. Watch that flabby, flaccid flesh fade away before flesh that is firm and plump. Red blood cells will do it and S. S. S. will build them. It contains only pure vegetable ingredients. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. The large size bottle is more economical.

INABILITY OF LEAGUE SPURS ITALY TO GRAB FOR TUM

Having Forced Her Will on Greece, Europe Now Looks for Italians to Press Other Demands.

SITUATION ALARMS

Bellevue, Sept. 12.—The League of Nations today issued the issue of its competency to intervene in the Italian-Greek crisis.

London, Sept. 12.—Italy, having forced her will upon Greece, now is prepared to take military action, if necessary, to defend Italy's rights in France, disposes from Rome, Athens and the Balkans indicate.

A new Adriatic crisis, with Corfu and Ploesti as the immediate pawns and Italy, Greece, France and Albania as participants in a new conflict appears at hand.

Mussolini charges the Jugo-Slavs with seeking to take advantage of the Italian-Greek dispute to break a contract which gave most of France to Italy. The Slavs have declined any such intention, and insist they will abide by promises made, but reports from Athens, possibly inspired, declare that Italian military preparations are under way.

The Athens correspondent of the Daily Chronicle writes:

"In Greek troops are held in readiness, with steam up and heavy contingents of choice Italian troops (Continued on Page Two.)"

BURDEN OF PROOF IN THE CODE WRANGLE ON COMMONWEALTH

Judge Hargest Decides It Is Up to Woodruff to Prove That the Code Is Constitutional.

A SNYDER VICTORY

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 12.—The Commonwealth in its case against State Treasurer, Charles A. Snyder, was dealt a blow by the Dauphin County Court today when it was asked to show cause why a preliminary injunction should not be granted, restraining the Board of Finance and Revenue from functioning.

This action places the burden of proving the Administrative Code constitutional upon Attorney General Woodruff. Counsel for Snyder asked for the injunction today, contending the Code unconstitutional and President Judge Hargest admitted the Supreme Court has held that State officials can be restrained when the act is invalid. A rule of court was granted and deferred action on the injunction until mandamus writ is argued September 22nd when all of the issues involved will have complete airing.

Two further injunction suits were filed today by Counsel for Snyder, restraining the Board of Public Grounds and Buildings and State Workers Insurance Board.

SNYDER INJUNCTION STOPS MACHINERY OF THE NEW BOARD SET UP BY STATE CODE

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 12.—The Board of Finance and Revenue, with sweeping fiscal powers under the Administrative Code, is restrained in a preliminary injunction and suit filed yesterday by State Treasurer Charles A. Snyder.

The action was brought by Snyder as a taxpayer and not as an official to prevent Auditor General Lewis Secretary of State and Finance King and Attorney General Woodruff from sitting as members of the board.

The suit is the first play in equity of a series contemplated by Snyder to test the constitutionality of the Code, by holding up activities of the Board, created under it, which conflicts with powers and duties defined in the constitution. Attorney General Woodruff held an extended conference with Snyder on the court proceedings when matters pertaining to recommendations on the code test case were outlined.

Woodruff said today he does not question Snyder's right to hold up payment of salaries but believes his method of attack is at fault.

"I cannot see why the whole machinery of State Government must be upset to test the code; under which it functions, when there are other methods of bringing up questions of its validity," he declared.

National Memorial For President Harding Is Discussed By Coolidge

Washington, Sept. 12.—A national memorial to the late President Harding, to be erected at Marion, Ohio, his home, was discussed with President Coolidge today by Brigadier General Charles E. Sawyer, physician to the late President, and by Charles E. Dawes, close friend of Mr. Harding.

They discussed with Coolidge plans for launching a nation wide campaign to give everyone who desires it an opportunity to have a part in erecting the Harding memorial. Sawyer said that within a few days announcement will be made of plans for the memorial campaign.

NOTICE PLEASANT GROVE

The Clearfield Circuit Fellowship League meets at Pleasant Grove on Thursday evening of this week. Everybody welcome.

Mrs. W. F. Powell and son Henry returned yesterday from a two month's visit in Ocean City, N. J.

POLITICAL POT BOILING

The "political pot" in Clearfield county was a long time "comin' to a boil" in this campaign, but that the boiling point has been reached at last is evidenced upon every hand, while surface indications seem to point in the direction of a real boiling over during the closing hours leading up to 7 o'clock on the morning of Tuesday, September 18th.

Started With Apathy The campaign now nearing an end was a particularly listless one, due to the fact in part at least, that there is but one candidate on each ticket for the office of Register and Recorder and Prothonotary.

However, even the seventeen candidates—ten Republicans and seven Democrats—failed to stir things up enough in the early days of the campaign to interest the people as usual in the campaign for the important office of County Commissioner. But even this fight has warmed up perceptibly the past ten days and now a battle royal is on for the two first places in both parties.

The fight started with the field against the "old Board" and a seeming lot of adverse criticism to bank upon. But the fact of there being eight other candidates for the Republican nomination friends of these candidates say, seems to have served to divide this opposition, if such existed, and it is still the field against the "old Board."

The outcome, as is to be expected, with ten candidates in the field, is very hard to determine and one man's guess is as good as the others, so we refuse to hazard a guess.

The same might well be said in the Democratic battle, where seven men are battling for two places. Here the situation is identical with that in our party, the field is against the "old Board" member seeking re-election, with the large number of candidates serving to divide the opposition, if such opposition exists, as in the Republican ranks.

FIFTY AMERICANS KNOWN DEAD IN TOKIO QUAKE

List of Identified Dead After the Report of No Casualties Among the Americans Is a Shock.

WOODS WIRES LIST

Washington, D. C. Sept. 11.—At least fifty American were killed in the earthquake and fire at Tokio, despite previous reports of no casualties among American residents of the Japanese capital, according to an official dispatch of the state department today from Cyrus E. Woods, the United States Ambassador.

The dispatch, which carried the names of all the American dead thus far identified, was relayed by Earl R. Rickover, United States counsel at Kobe.

The dead: Miss Doris Babbitt, Mrs. Joseph Cocha Brigel, Mrs. Brunnell, F. L. Eliot, Mr. Firth, Miss Jean Grattan, Mrs. L. H. Jenks, Mrs. Jinks, Mr. Kempton, Mr. Kirschhoffer, Mrs. George Komor, Miss Jennie Kuyper, T. J. Lapp, Carl Lewis, Miss Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. Markell, C. M. Masons, Captain Mitchell MacDonald, Miss Maurice Mendelson, Miss Merritt, I. Morrison, Edwin Muller, Mr. Patterson, Mr. Perrett, Mr. Purington and two children and governess, J. Read, Jack Read, Mrs. Reich, A. Roberts, Miss Katherine Robinson, R. S. P. Robertson, Mrs. Harry Root and son, Mr. Rupp, Dr. Smith, Mr. Svendsen, Mrs. Thompson, Miss Tolstoy, L. Veil, Mrs. Weirman and daughter, Miss Winstanley, Gerald Xavier, V. Zembach and Mrs. L. Zembach.

Charles Johnson, of New York City, who is visiting his uncle J. C. Johnson, at Grampian, was a Clearfield visitor yesterday.

The Judgeship There are two candidates for the Judgeship nomination in each party and a real struggle on in both. The Democratic battle is red hot. The candidates, Judge Bell, for re-election and J. Frank Snyder, of the old law firm of Orvis & Snyder, which firm spread a great deal of legal history on the records of Clearfield county, when Attorney Snyder was in the heyday of his practice at the Clearfield county Bar.

What They Say The Bell forces are using the argument that because Mr. Snyder has not been an active practicing attorney in this county the past several years, he is therefore out of touch with judicial procedure and that for the Democratic party to nominate him and present his name to the voters of Clearfield county for President Judge would be like recommending a machinist who knew nothing about farming, to manage a farm.

The Snyder forces are using the argument, and creating a great deal of sentiment on the same, that Judge Bell made his campaign ten years ago upon the issue that ten years was long enough for any man for Judge of Clearfield County, and if elected he would not ask a second term, and therefore should not seek re-election. They further advance the argument that it is asking too much for two terms as Judge, and especially when after serving twenty years on the bench, under the law of the State of Pennsylvania, a Judge receives a Judge's Pension, one half the salary he received when he retires from the bench and it would be an additional burden upon the taxpayers to saddle them with a pension for a Judge, who had already and for so many years, been so well paid for his services.

The above are the stock arguments of the contending forces as the battle goes merrily on, and while we refuse to hazard a guess on nomination we do feel like saying that with our Democratic brethren it is a case of love's labor lost, as regardless of the outcome of the Democratic primary, the next President Judge of Clearfield county will be a Republican.

That gets us down to the Republican contest for the Judicial nomination. The contestants are A. Roy Chase, Esq., one of the most successful of the younger members of the Bar, and Hazard A. Murray, Esq., son of the late Hon. Thos. H. Murray. The candidates are members of two of Clearfield county's pioneer Republican families. Here again are we compelled to refrain from making a prediction as to the outcome. Each has elements of strength which the other does not possess. Mr. Chase's friends are urging his claims upon the ground that while his opponent has not been active along either legal or political lines the past few years, Chase has not only been interested in fifty to sixty per cent of the legal business of the Clearfield courts, but has been a tireless party worker and his efforts in this regard entitle him to recognition, now, that he is asking favor for himself. They point out that the Chase family is one of the largest family connections in Clearfield county, always staunchly loyal to the ticket nomination, yet but one of their member, Ed B. Chase, ever held a county office.

The Murray forces are equally as insistent upon the claims and rights of their candidate, asserting that he is a "chip off the old block" and point to the distinguished record of his father as a lawyer and to the fact that though not so active since his father's death, he was associated with him in his law practice for many years and is well grounded in the law.

Thus the contest rolls on toward the finish line of primary day, with each side confident of victory and feeling, as we said heretofore, that the man nominated at the Republican primary election on Tuesday, September 18th, 1923, will be the next President Judge of Clearfield county. And, again we say, it is even.

MEN INVITED

Clearfield Council No. 1 of Republican Women under whose auspices the political mass meeting is being held at the Court House tomorrow evening, extend an invitation to the male voters of this vicinity to be present to hear the candidates.

ATTENTION LUTHERANS!

We will hold our annual Harvest Home service next Sunday, Sept. 16th. The principal decoration will be jars of fruits and vegetables. These will later be sent to our Loysville Orphan's Home and to our local home. Every member of St. John's is urged to assist in this noble work by contributing something that may be sent to help feed the orphan children. Goods may be sent to the church any time before Saturday night. If unable to bring or send your contribution call the pastor.

POWDER HOUSE IS ROBBED

Osceola, Sept. 12.—The powder house of the Maryland Coal and Coke Company just outside of town was broken into and robbed some time during the night.

Eight or ten kegs of powder a case of dynamite, with a large quantity of fuse was taken. The State police were notified and will make every effort to run down the robbers.

SLIGHT FIRE AT J. G. LYTLE'S

A slight fire on the roof of J. G. Lytle's residence on Walnut street midway between Third and Fourth streets, called the firemen out about 3:10 Tuesday afternoon. The flames put up a very weak battle and were soon vanquished, but not before a considerable hole was burned in the roof at the rear end of the alley side of the building.

The fire was caused by a spark from the flue.

Woodland citizens are going to celebrate Community Day. Everybody in that community is making preparations for the big event and of course every former Woodlander will want to be present to renew acquaintances. The Woodland Band is all tuned up for the occasion. The day will start off with a basket picnic at one o'clock and all are urged to come with a basket well filled. During the afternoon there will be a base ball game and a number of sports events with prizes for each event.

Woodland always entertained royally and you'll miss a good time if you do not go.

SCIENTISTS ONE SECOND OFF IN COMPUTING TIME OF SUN ECLIPSE

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 12.—As the vast solar laboratory, into which southern California had been converted for the purpose of viewing the eclipse broke up today, scientists tallied the results of their tireless efforts and the expenditure of thousands of dollars.

While admitting the fog bound eclipse prevented them from obtaining any worthwhile photographic results with the possible exception of pictures that aviators, flying four miles high may have obtained, the following important observations were made:

1. A display of rosy colored hydrogen gas was recorded by Professor F. A. Mitchell of the University of Virginia, stationed at Lake Shide.

Scientists take great interest in the discovery of new gas formation as helium was first observed on the sun, and later observed in smaller quantities on the earth.

2. An interesting demonstration of the sun on the earth's magnetic conditions, which may have an important bearing on future chart and compass work was made by Captain Ault of the Carnegie Institute of Washington.

During totality he noticed a distinct dip in the magnetic needle and found that the electrical conductivity of the air decreased 10 per cent.

3. Scientific calculations of the time of the eclipse, made years ago were one second off, the moon obscuring the sun one second before time.

While discouraging reports came in from nearly all the scientific parties who remained on terra firma, there was still hopes that when the films, taken by army aviators are developed, some valuable pictures may be secured.

The Progress learns with regret that Lieut. Colonel Thomas Stanyon of the Salvation Army, the man who directed the Salvation Army building fund campaign here recently, is leaving the post which gave him control of this district. Col. Stanyon was a man among men, a peer among peers. We wish him continued success. Following is a letter he has sent out to the executive committee of this city:

"The continued progress of The Salvation Army has once more made it necessary to create new headquarters for our activities.

In connection with this change, the Clearfield Corps will pass from under the supervision of myself and staff and become a part of the Northeastern Pennsylvania Division. The new headquarters will be located at Scranton, Penna., and Brigadier H. Bale, a Salvation Army officer of many years experience will be the Divisional Commander.

I appreciate what you have done as a member of our Advisory Board; realize changes of this kind only come about because of the interest of such men as you, and I sincerely hope you will find it a pleasure to continue as a member of The Salvation Army Advisory Board in your community.

ON THE JOB

Ispheming, Mich., Sept. 12.—Henry Ford has purchased the town of Pegumung, Baragh County, in the upper Michigan peninsula, it became known today.

The purchase includes a short railroad, saw mill, timber lands, and also the interests of Charles Hubard and Sons in Baragh, Onetonage, Houghton and Marquette Counties, bringing the Ford lumber output to about 50,000,000 feet annually.

A slight fire on the roof of J. G. Lytle's residence on Walnut street midway between Third and Fourth streets, called the firemen out about 3:10 Tuesday afternoon. The flames put up a very weak battle and were soon vanquished, but not before a considerable hole was burned in the roof at the rear end of the alley side of the building.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. L. C.

The Ford Motor Company is earning at the rate of $9,500 a minute, according to a compilation based on an income statement for the four months ended June 30, which showed net income of $54,351,500. This is at the rate of close to $3,500,000 weekly, $432,930 daily and $56,616 hourly.

This income has been recorded despite a reduction from $90 to $43 in the profit per car the last year, solely because of the enormous increase in the number of automobiles sold.

The following letter received at this office on Monday and referred to this column for reply, is self-explanatory:

Westover, Pa., Sept. 8, 1923.
The Clearfield Progress,
Clearfield, Pa.
Gentlemen:—

The question of Pension for Judges is being much talked of in these days in this part of the county, and it seems no one knows just exactly what the law is or how it reads. Therefore I promised myself and friends that I would kindly ask you to publish this law as it appears on the statute books.

Yours very truly,
G. O. NEFF.

The Judge's Pension Law, of which our correspondent speaks was passed by the Legislature of 1919, and may be found in full on page 461 of Pennsylvania Laws for 1919. Section 2 of the act contains the information Mr. Neff seeks and is as follows:

"Any judge of the Supreme, Superior, common pleas, orphans', municipal, or county court, who shall have served in judicial office for twenty (20) years or more immediately prior to the date of his resignation or retirement, may resign or retire, and, if after his resignation or honorable retirement from office by expiration of term or otherwise he shall hold himself in readiness to advise with his successors and their colleagues, and to perform duties as special master, referee, auditor, or examiner, in such ways as he may be reasonably able to do, shall receive during the remainder of the term for which he was last elected, if he shall so long live, and during the remainder of his life after the expiration of the term for which he shall have been elected, a sum equal to one-half (1/2) of the salary which would have been paid to him had he continued in active service in such court."

While on this subject it might be well to add that the salary of the President Judge of Clearfield Co., is $10,000 per year, while a Judge receives, in addition to his salary, the sum of $20 per day and his expenses for every day he is engaged in holding court in any other county of the state, outside of his home county.

"Ten steamers, have been requisitioned by the Italian government for conveying troops to the base at Pola."

At Bari the Italians have embarked the 10th, 6th and 47th Infantry regiments for an unknown destination. The units are completely supplied with artillery and ammunition. Their destination is not known.

Officials in London consider the whole Balkan situation as alarming and fear Italy is ready to go to extreme ends to carry out her plans for making the Adriatic an Italian lake.

ADDRESSED OSCEOLA COMMERCIAL CLUB

County Road Superintendent Edgar J. Westcott, of Clearfield, addressed the Osceola Commercial Club last evening taking as his text the work of the State Highway Department in this section. He gave the Commercial club some interesting insights into the manner of handling highway maintenance and construction and also spoke on the matter of highway signs. The address was chock full of worthwhile information, which was much appreciated by his hearers.

Following the meeting Mr. Westcott met the Osceola Borough Council and discussed local road problems with them.

DR. BUTLER BURIED TODAY

The remains of the late Dr. Henry S. Butler arrived in Clearfield on the 10 o'clock train this morning and were taken at once to the Presbyterian church where they remained in state until the time set for the funeral at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Many persons viewed the remains of Dr. Butler, who was generally esteemed and highly respected by all the people of Clearfield during his long ministry here.

Dr. J. Vernon Bell, of DuBois, a friend of two score years' standing, conducted the funeral services.

Dr. Butler was pastor in Clearfield when Dr. Bell began his ministry in Penfield forty-two years ago, and he showed such kindness to the young minister that a warm and enduring friendship was formed which has lasted through the years and is the principle reason for his being called on to officiate at the burial today.

Dr. Butler was pastor of the Presbyterian church in Clearfield for nearly twenty years, after which he went to Blairstown, N. J., and was pastor there and ex-officio President of the Board of Trustees of the well-known Blairstown Academy, for twenty or more years. Following that he moved to Tennessee, where with Mrs. Butler he carried on a most helpful construction work among the Mountain Whites of the South thus crowning an unusually useful life as a minister. Dr. Butler was over 83 years of age at the time of his death and for the past few years has been living in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Butler was very prominent as a minister, while in Clearfield, having convened the first meeting of the Synod of Pennsylvania when it was formed in Harrisburg out of five Synods which then existed in the state. He was chairman of the committee of Huntingdon Presbytery which organized the DuBois Presbyterian church.

Dr. Butler is survived by his widow, who was Miss Mary Mossop, of Clearfield before her marriage. Two sons and a daughter by his first marriage also survive.

Interment was made in the Old cemetery.

LAST LEGION DANCE AT PARK

The Major-Botts orchestra of Harrisburg, one of the finest musical organizations in the State of Pennsylvania, will furnish the music for the American Legion dance at the Clearfield Driving Park Thursday evening.

The leader of this orchestra, Prof. C. L. Major, is a former Clearfield boy who got his start in music right here in Clearfield. He will appear in person with his orchestra and will no doubt be given a splendid welcome to his old home town.

Thursday night's dance will be the last Legion dance held at the Park, for the remainder of the season. The Dimeling ball room will be utilized by the Legion for their dances.

Evidently Warm.

I was visiting with my sister and family, and while we were eating dinner one day little Paul looked up so funny with big tears standing in his blue eyes. His father asked what was the trouble, and Paul replied: "Me don't know, papa, it's going down cooked."—Exchange.

Optimism. The spirit which is whole has no room for the suffering of fear. It can meet life and do battle with it cheerfully; work and friendship and the daily round of events fill it to the exclusion of all phantoms; it is a joy to overcome obstacles, to right mistakes and to endure hardships in the hope of better days to come.

Progress "Want" ads bring results.

SAYS "PECK MILLS IS GREAT"

One dance enthusiast who heard Peck Mills orchestra play an engagement last week, wrote to the management of the Midway and said: "You need not hesitate for a moment in recommending Peck Mills Orchestra to your patrons. They are great. This Orchestra is booked at the Midway for Thursday night, Sept. 13th."

SELECT YOUR OWN CANDIDATES

The Progress has been importuned from time to time to take a part in the selection of party candidates for the various offices. Whether it should do so is a debatable question.

Truly it would be an ideal state of affairs if a newspaper of nearly five thousand circulation could, without fear or favor, discuss the merits and demerits of the candidates but our experience has been that in every such undertaking, motives have been questioned.

Most assuredly we could not be a party to the setting up of a candidate and of making an effort to put a candidate or set of candidates through solely on a basis of political expediency.

There are times and circumstances which warrant a newspaper taking a hand. Anxious office seekers and their henchmen, "kittles" of fish whose services are bought and paid for, become over-zealous and stoop to underhanded lying and cheating.

Unfortunately men with no regard for the truth, men who have that all is fair in politics and men who take keen delight in denigrating the reputation and character of political opponents for the advantage of our position and assail; without fear of public exposure, the opponent of their favorite with contemptible lies. Usually the one assailed does not hear of the things that have been said until the pernicious gossip, which rolls out as ripples on a placid lake, has permeated the whole community and there is no way to combat it and, in many cases, although these stories fall on fertile ears they are of such a ridiculous character that the candidate does not wish to dignify them with a denial.

Therefore, we do not propose to discuss the relative merits of the various candidates for public office. The people of this county are very able to select their officers if they will but go to the polls next Tuesday and do their duty. It would seem that a very safe plan would be for every man and every woman to do their own thinking and pay no attention to the tattletales and the gossip mongers.

There is entirely too much of this kind of campaigning right now. So long as there is no better foundation for some of the stories that we have heard than the mere fact of their having been told, the citizen who honestly desires to give every candidate fair play will weigh each aspirant to office on his merits, not on his demerits.

Turn a deaf ear to the tale bearer. Better yet, ask him or her to make affidavit to the fact and you will be able to observe the cut of their coat in the rear very promptly.

Every one of these candidates is asking for a job. You are being hired. Make the man fit the requirements of the office. For instance a County Commissioner is a business man and an executive.

He should be capable, experienced in business procedure. He should be honest.

He must have that breadth of vision that will enable him to see the whole county, not just a part of it.

He should be of that hard headed type which will demand a man's worth of value for every one hundred cents spent. This qualification overshadows all others as all other considerations are embraced in it.

What of the man you hire for Judge?

He must be learned in the law.

He should be a man who, by contact with the people, has learned the lessons which will enable him to apply the law with justice to all. Few laws are wrong but there are many wrong applications of law.

If you are satisfied on these two points you will, as a private citizen, weigh the candidates from other angles.

Quite naturally the personal equation will enter into your selection. You would like to see, sitting on the bench, the man you know as John, Harry or Bill. The fact that you knew him, and even more so the fact that he knew you, will be a very large consideration, and rightly so, for we all like the man whose acquaintance brings all to a level plane.

You will consider his general characteristics. Has he been ambitious, diligent, a worker? Has he been willing to turn his talents to the aid of the poor as well as to the rich? Remember the law was made to protect the weak from the strong.

What is his record for community endeavor? Has he given freely of his time and talent in those many community affairs where the only compensation is the knowledge of having done one's part as a citizen? True, this latter is not a judicial qualification, but people always want to reward service.

Finally, there is another consideration. Next Tuesday we do select a judge. We only select a Republican candidate and a Democratic candidate and the people will make the decision between the two next November. The primary, however, is no less important. Since candidates must be selected within the parties political considerations must not be forgotten.

Party government is fundamentally a part of our form of government, the great majority of our voting citizens being party adherents at heart, breaking over only when some candidate or candidates are particularly undesirable. Men and women who unselfishly devote themselves to work for their party over a period of years have a right to expect, other things being equal, a reward at the hands of their party members for their sacrifice of time and effort. When this reward is not forthcoming, party workers are discouraged and the party is weakened. Therefore, party interest and zeal which has been translated into action by sacrifice and labor, will be a big factor when Mr. Average Citizen makes up his mind.

Select Your Own Candidates.

TRINITY CHURCH EVENTS

Interest in the study of John Mark last Sunday was very manifest especially among the boys and girls. With a drop in school attendance, the offering exceeded the old figures.

The memorial to Miss Mary E. King, a very competent and highly esteemed teacher, began with singing her favorite hymns. Mrs. David R. Woolridge, a charter member of Miss King's class, read a noble tribute to her work as a teacher and Christian leader. Her relation to the Church, her character, the springs of her life and the method of her manifold service in the Kingdom were set forth by H. B. Powell.

For the Spring congregation, marked by the presence of strangers the pastor had an exposition from 1 Cor. 3:22, "Or Apollos," which was an interpretation of the uses of the Scriptures and the inerrancy of the Word of God. At night, the exposition presented "Or Cephas" who was the embodiment of experience, with its contribution to Religious Reality, freedom from prelaty, and proof of his supernatural. The application of his to the Church was quite direct and minute. Its credential of the divinity of Jesus Christ made a strong proposition.

At night the pastor reviewed the catastrophe of the Japan earthquake reciting the high points of an interview with those that knew the conditions, changes and extent of the disaster because of years of residence of a member of the family, returned a fortnight past on furlough from Yokohama, where he labored for 20 years.

This week's events: Wednesday, love-feast, preparatory to Holy Communion Sunday, followed by teachers' meeting and Sunday School board. Thursday, church, Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, election of officers and very special business. The sacrament offering next Sunday will be for the relief of Japan.

cost that counts—it's the uplay."

Not that it didn't cost the aera, and their successors who were in season and out for the bait. No sooner is the toll and the pay over than we forget the act and smart. It is so easy to ignore the poorly kept food supply, the blue milk, the careless traffic, the playgrounds, or whatever the special features of civic life that are watching may be.

And of course it costs to see that clean, straight candidates are prevailed upon to "enter politics," and then work for their election—all of which women are peculiarly pledged to do, as heirs of the long struggle for the power to say what they believe at the polls.

Perhaps the fact that a native Alaskan girl has grown up to be a power in Scandinavian affairs, and sends back her clear call to the women of the United States of America, may emphasize the importance of action, and vigilance, now and henceforth.

Curwensville's Own Column

The ladies of the American Legion Auxiliary have assumed the responsibility of erecting a Memorial Tablet in honor of our brave heroes who gave their services in the world war, also those noble veterans of the Civil and Spanish American wars who so valiantly left home, friends and loved ones to rectify universal matters for us. Those who enjoyed the comforts of the home fireside should with the less fervor endeavor to accomplish this well begun work. Some months ago an able committee of ladies was appointed to make a house to house canvass and secure the names of all world war soldiers who registered from our town (the other war veterans are no doubt on records which are available. If persistence this should appear to the eyes of our weaker sex who failed to complete their work will you not feel it your patriotic duty to trip over your territory, secure the required data and report at Tuesday night's meeting.

Borough Council met in active session last Monday evening and went through a lot of business that had accumulated on the docket and had been held over at previous sessions. The first question that came before council was the establishment of a free parking space out at the Park grounds. After considerable argument as to the advisability of such an action, the resolution covering the free parking project, passed the board unanimously. Messrs. John Shearer and J. W. Conway, residing on Susquehanna avenue, appeared before council and asked for permits to establish gasoline tanks at their respective places of business. Permission was refused, but the applicants were told to go and do as others before them had done, put in the tanks without permission, provided no objection was raised by people living in adjoining properties. A free gift of a new steel children's slide was reported as being placed. Fire Chief Benner was present and reported that 250 feet of new fire hose had been purchased and that 250 feet on hand be sent away for repairs. Request granted. The resignation of Harold Smith as one of borough's auditors was presented, read and accepted. The final settlement with Contractor Thompson came up and after some discussion the balance of money due him on paying account, was paid over to him. It is not likely that the paving of Thompson street will be attempted this season, as Council has not received a single bid for the work and the season had so far advanced that it was deemed unadvisable to attempt the work, even though bids were offered now. The above was about all of the real business that was transacted, excepting the drafting of vouchers for work and other services rendered for previous month.

Mrs. Alberry, of DuBois, has been a guest of Tom Sheridan and family several days this week.

Miss Ella Bloom one of the clerical force at the Spencer store has gone to Pittsburgh where she will spend the balance of the week with her brother Fred and his family.

Hardman Heitzner, an aged and respected citizen of Grampian and whose illness covered a period of more than a year, died at the family home yesterday morning at an early hour. (More extended notice will appear later.)

M. J. Kelly passed quietly away yesterday morning about two o'clock. He was in his 52d year. By his death Curwensville loses an honored and prosperous citizen and whose death while hardly unexpected, has cast a shadow of sorrow over the entire community. Mr. Kelly came to Curwensville about the year 1912 from Grampian where he had managed a hotel for some years. Purchasing the Samuel P. Arnold property, West State street, he removed from Grampian and has been a resident of this town since that time, making and keeping a host of warm and influential friends not only in this section but all over Clearfield county. He entered the coal fields as an operator and was interested in mines not only in this county but adjoining territory. Mr. Kelly was born and reared in or about Snow Shoe and was united in marriage to a young lady, Miss Smith, with whom he lived in perfect harmony and love during his earthly life. He was a sincere Catholic in faith and was always active in church work, contributing largely of his wealth. He is survived by his faithful wife and two daughters. Mr.

Kelly's illness dates back for more than a year. (Funeral date later.)

The State Highway people are hard at work on the stretch of highway lying between the brick yard and the upper end of State street. About 800 feet of concrete road bed has been put down, and no prevailing interference intervening between now and Saturday evening, the road will be finished to Floating Run.

Meander Brennetti, who has been an able instructor in a college at Morgantown, W. Va. is home on a vacation trip. Within the next week he will leave to take a special course of study at Princeton College.

The pool match at the Park House Monday evening was won by a professional named Clearwater, he defeating Sloppy, a local man, by some 10 odd points.

Several citizens residing over on the South Side have called our attention to the fact that some person or persons are monkeying with the water that flows into a public watering trough at the junction of Scofield street and the road coming out from the Penna. H. & L. tannery. Teamsters who have no place else to water their horses claim that the water is muddy and the trough filled with debris obnoxious to the nostrils of the animals and they refuse to drink from that trough. There is a heavy penalty attached for this sort of misconduct and the offenders should be properly punished.

WILL ARRIVE HOME SATURDAY

A postcard from Dr. E. C. Reeve, who with his wife and daughter Rebecca, spent the past month at Magnetawan, Canada, informs us that they will start for home tomorrow and expect to reach Clearfield Saturday. Mrs. Reeve is much improved in health, we are pleased to be able to state.

DRIVE CAREFULLY

An automobile smash which resulted in badly battering up the rear end of a Ford touring car driven by Geo. Hallock occurred in front of Stewart's Drug Store on Market street about 1 o'clock today.

Hallock had his Ford parked in a stall in front of the Five and Ten cent store and backed out into the traffic as one of the Workman's Bakery trucks, driven by Dock Campbell, came along traveling down Market street.

The truck banged into the rear of the Ford, putting the rear end entirely out of commission by smashing up the wheels. The truck escaped without injury, except to the bumper, which was bent back against the front wheel but was soon straightened up.

A near Accident
A lad coming home from school about the noon hour was grazed by a car and bumped over near the corner of Market and Third streets about noon. The machine which hit him had been parked along the street and was backing out when the boy was struck but the lad escaped injury.

Now that school has started again and the streets leading to the schools and in the central part of the town are jammed with children at morning, noon and evening, motor drivers should use extra caution when traveling through school zones.

It has been brought to my attention that persons are circulating reports throughout the County that I have withdrawn as a Candidate for President Judge of Clearfield County at the coming Primary, as well as numerous other stories of a similar nature. Such tactics are frequently used when a candidate is unable to correct any false or misleading statements.

I wish to warn my friends throughout the County to beware of all such statements and to carefully investigate before voting. I am a candidate and expect to be nominated at the primary, and believe my record as a Judge justifies the voters of the County in supporting me.

Pegs Provided for Wigs.
A visitor in one of London's churches was puzzled a short time ago to see, at the back of the pulpit and on a level with the preacher's head, a wooden peg which appeared to belong to the pulpit woodwork. Similar pegs were to be found in other parts of the same church, and in many other city churches. They were used for hanging up the preacher's and the congregation's wigs.

Command of Power Vital.
The big, controlling fact in modern life is the command of power. Primitive man had his own muscles. A little later he learned to use wind and current, he began to tame animals, he took to the bad sidetrack of enslaving his own kind. But not till he learned to harness the forces of nature did he win to real earth mastery.—Chicago Journal.

Mr. Pureheart in Error.
Mr. Pureheart was excited. "I tell you," he said, "there's a drug den upstairs, over that store. Why, I've seen dozens—of women, mind you—go up there looking haggard, worn and old, and come down looking spirited and young, as if imbued with new life." "Drug den nothing," said Mr. Pureheart, "my such thing. That's a beauty parlor."

Cyrus Grandpa Were Wig.
Xenophon reports of seeing the grandfather of Cyrus wearing false hair, so that the custom may be traced to the Medes, among whom it is believed to have been in favor. GIVE THE KIDDIES LOTS OF OUR MILK

The kiddies have started on their year's school work and it will be necessary to keep them up to the highest physical efficiency in order that they make the marks you'd like to have them make.

Their bodies must be nourished in the same ratio as their brains and you will find that a diet which consists of plenty of our milk will keep them fit.

All the nutriment that is needed is in our milk and it is as pure as the driven snow. All the disease possibilities have been removed through the pasteurization process.

"SHOW CITY IN WORLD WAR"

Historian of Moughan Post by President as Author of Victory of the Organization.

Fred W. Brown, historian of the 11th ward M. Moughan post of the American Legion in Moughan City, Pa., reported the praise of the Legion's historical tapestry commission for his report as historian of the Gold Star emblem, a patriotic constantly display to the World War dead, and as author of a history of the Moughan post.

The production was held three days, during which it was witnessed by almost every resident of the city. It symbolized the participation of Moughan City in the World war, paying tribute to the memory of 114 men killed in the war.

Scenes from the war, regiments, regiments and addresses of soldiers carried out in an allegory, culminating in a tableau designed to portray the efforts of the American Legion in honoring the dead.

A most impressive feature of the production was the script, the author, a large number of "Gold Star" mothers and wives of deceased soldiers.

Pieces was the moving part in conducting the ceremonial, and in completing the history, "Show City in World War." A portion of the admission fees to the ceremonial and profits from sale of the history were devoted to the Legion's fund to provide for the permanent maintenance of overseas graves.

HEARD ALONG THE BANKS OF THE MOSHANNON

Willis Mastos, of Gettysburg, was arrested here Monday by Chief of Police Daniel Brink and held in the local jail until Gettysburg police arrived and took him back to his home town to answer to the charge of taking a young girl to Harrisburg with him for immoral purposes. Mastos is married.

Large contributions to the Japanese fund are pouring in with great rapidity. The Moshannon chapter quota is $150, and Tuesday evening $26.35 has been collected. It is expected the quota will be reached in a very short time.

At a special session of Centre County court held at Bellefonte Monday, J. G. Gerkke, of this place, was fined $100 and sentenced to one year in the county jail for violating the liquor law.

Another man held for violating the prohibition law was John Rodzynski of Meligan Hollow, in Roach township. His wife was also held on the same charge. The husband was sentenced to serve three months in the county jail and his wife was paroled. The latter occurred when it was found the couple had several small children that needed care.

Emory Howe, of Munson, who was arrested in Philadelphia for driving a car while intoxicated was also paroled.

The Williamsport Baseball Club, champions of the New York-Pennsylvania league, defeated the local 4th Street by a 7-0 score, in a lively game at Phillipsburg Monday evening. A large crowd of spectators witnessed the game, the proceeds of the game to go to the building fund of the local Cottage State hospital.

The mechanic at the Hoffman & Bink ice cream factory here was held up and robbed of $15 about 7:30 Tuesday evening near the railroad tower at the slaughter house of the Pennsylvania Beef Company's plant. The intruders failed to search any more than one of his pockets, the victim having a roll of bills in his inside coat pocket. This is the first such hold up in this section in a long while. The robbers escaped.

Paul Griffin and Miss Dorothy Kasper of Bradford township, Clearfield county, were married Sept. 5th at Clearfield. Both are popular young people and will start on their new role of life with the best wishes of their many friends.

Both Gray, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gray, of Houtzdale, was struck by an automobile at this place Friday evening and sustained a fracture of the skull and crushed right leg. She was brought to the Cottage State hospital here and died at 9:10, an hour after being admitted.

Farmers throughout the upper section of Covington twp., were surprised last week when agents of the Columbus Gas & Oil Co., who hold Oil and Gas leases appeared and distributed checks in payment of the first rental on the same. BENEFIT GAME SATURDAY

The baseball season is rapidly drawing to a close, but before it ends in Clearfield the American Legion will stage a benefit game for Jimmy Almond and Guy Cowdick, both of whom suffered injuries while playing with the local team.

The game is set for Saturday, September 15th, and all fans who can possibly do so are urged to attend the game. And if you cannot attend the game, you can at least try a ticket.

Jimmy Almond, the Phillipsburg catcher, had a finger broken at the Park three or four weeks ago and has been unable to work ever since or until very recently. Cowdick broke his leg at Idamar more than three weeks ago and is just able to be about on crutches.

Give the boys a benefit by purchasing a ticket to the game.

Display Of 30,000 Specimens Of Rare Coins At The Clearfield Trust Company Should Be Seen By Everyone: One Time Value Of 50 Million

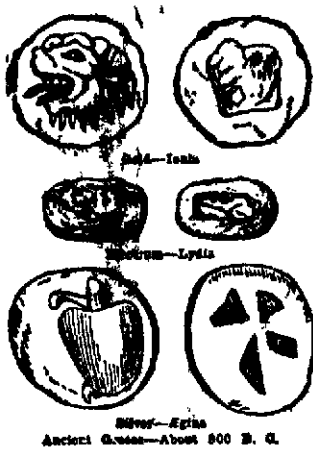

A mere fraction of a penny has been seen by many a man and woman. The fact that small amount of money has sent hundreds of thousands to the grave before their time. In like manner an abundance of money has been the root of a great deal of evil and graveyards are full of people who have eaten their way to the grave. This latter condition does not seem to worry Mr. Zerbe who has his collection of 30,000 coins, worth millions in original value, at the Clearfield Trust Company this week. Those who have seen Mr. Zerbe's collection are amazed at his collection, wondering how he could possibly gather such an exhibit together within a life time. It is being shown to the public in the Clearfield Trust Company, Thursday and Friday.

A life time has been spent by Mr. Zerbe and plenty of money in preparing this collection. It has taken over 40 years and Mr. Zerbe stated that he considers a day lost when he does not get some new specimen. The collection is right up to the minute in every detail and whenever a new piece of money is added in any country it is added to the collection as soon as it can be secured.

Probably great interest will be shown in the largest piece of money which has been known to man. That is a Swedish coin, ten inches square clearly seen from the money used, according to Mr. Zerbe. Almost every conceivable mineral or material has at one time or the other been used as money, said Mr. Zerbe, and this is most clearly seen from the exhibit.

The exhibition will be stressed in the public schools and it is planned to have every school child view the great collection during its stay here.

Ancient Coins—About 500 B. C.

The collection is being presented to the public of this city through the courtesy of the Alliance First National bank.

The exhibit opens Tuesday and remains open each day from 9:00 to 4:00; closes on Friday at 4 o'clock. A special exhibition will be given Thursday night for those who cannot attend during the day, from 7:00 to 9:00.

Mr. Zerbe will gladly give any information relative to coins you bring to him. Submit pocket pieces and old coins for his valued opinion and fact information.

The collector has invited school children to call by classes at any time.

Curwensville's Own Column

The Indian Medicine show, conducted on the rear of the Park House, was attended by a goodly portion of Curwensville people, who were there to hear the medicine men and see the dancing performances, than to listen to medicine that they did not know anything about.

Hon. Jacob Kantar, writing in his A Nation Legion column, (has told the reader to believe that he is not one of the most capable) has this complimentary testimony among several others: "We don't know much about Yellow Dogs, but if they are built of the same stuff they things with joy and spirit, to that which is inherently there and continue to play the part of guardian of civil government and public welfare they are entitled to every legitimate recognition and support you can offer." Again, "It was not this which put the Labor Day celebration over but spots that carried a tune of harmony and united over 900 substantial citizens in earnest determination to be of service to their fellow men and their community."

Isaac Kantar was in New York and other eastern markets, about all of last week purchasing the fall stock of goods for his chain of stores.

We have often heard it remarked and wondered at it ourselves, why Curwensville did not support a first class Glee Club. The town has a host of vocal musicians, both male and female, and of the male outfit, we mention, not in mentioning a few such as Obe and Verne Bloom, Wm. Hille, Jas Edmiston, Wm. Hille, Geo. Jenner, R. E. Way, Harry Brown and Al Frank, besides a host of others. The people of Curwensville would certainly appreciate such music as these gentlemen could make. Give it a trial.

Two automobile wrecks in the record in this borough for Sunday. The first one was on Filbert street. A young colored lady hopped into the car of a friend, and wanted to see how the machinery worked. She accidentally kicked the brake loose and the car started down the street. She became frightened and jumped out of the car and the John Henry undertook a trip on its own accord. The car ran in a straight line for a short distance and then swerved to the left, jumping onto the sidewalk and struck the wall of Mike Kovach's domicile; then not satisfied, caromed off and landed on the Karstetter front porch, knocking down three props from under the roof. The owner of the vehicle, who by the way was a colored gemman from the county seat, arrived and after viewing the damage done forked over $40.00 to Karstetter to repair damage and escape arrest. The second smash occurred over on South Side where a young man named Patterson ran into a car operated by a young fellow named Logan from Clearfield. The damage done was slight.

Samuel J. McKenrick, Hugh McKenrick, Misses Irene and Ruth McKenrick, returned Sunday from a week's trip to Gettysburg, Baltimore and other eastern points. Adams county is the native home of the other McKenrick.

GIANT POWER PLANT FOR STATE GETTING UNDER WAY RAPIDLY

By S. P. HOLLINGSWORTH
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Harrisburg, Sept. 8.—The famous phrase: "If the mountain does not come to Mohammed, Mohammed will go to the mountain," has its application to the giant power plans of Governor Pinchot in relation to the fuel problem—the coal industry, in this case, being the mountain.

Governor Pinchot plans to bring the consumers of coal, including hundreds of thousands of urban, suburban and rural dwellers, directly to the source of supply at the mines by high powered generators and transmission lines for electro-energy.

This plan, incorporated in the work of the Giant Power Survey, launched recently, he regards as of utmost importance as a permanent solution of the coal problem.

It will take several years for the plans to bear fruit but with the public demand for a readjustment of the industry which furnishes the power and heat of the nation, Governor Pinchot is confident he is on the right track in seeking the aid of science to provide a more equitable distribution of wealth resources.

The objects of the power survey in terms of the ultimate good to result from widespread use of electricity generated at the mines may be summed up like this:

1. To stabilize the coal industry by increasing the demand in the generation of power on a large scale at the mines, assuming continued employment.

2. To effect economies by utilization of waste coal and its by-products and reducing the ultimate cost to the consumer by large scale production and elimination of huge transportation costs.

3. To encourage use in farms, factories and homes, of electric current for power and heat, made possible by low rates.

It can be seen that the accomplishment of this purpose provides a cycle of benefit, to labor, to employers and management as well as to the general public.

Secretary of Forests and Waters Robert Y. Stuart, member of the Power Board and its secretary, said the plan is, more than practicable; it is possible. "In Canada, the people have been getting electricity so cheap they are able to use it for every purpose, even cooking. If they can accomplish that from water power resources, certainly with the coal resources of this state it should be possible to accomplish as much if not more."

Morris L. Cook, director of the survey, and Robert H. Fernald, engineer, member of the board, both appointed recently, are working out the initial plans for the survey which embraces not only the work of this state but that of other states along this line. The federal investigations and state reports are in their hands and they are trying to ascertain a line of approach to the problem based on data that has been secured without going again over the same ground.

Close to the Truth.
A friend came to visit us one evening and became much attached to my little niece who is three years old. She was asked: "How would you like to visit me some time, dear? I live in a big boarding house." The child replied quickly: "Oh, I know what that is. You sit alone in one room and eat in the basement."—Exchange

TRUTH TRIUMPHS

Clearfield Citizens Testify for the Public Benefit

A truthful statement of a Clearfield citizen, given in his own words, should convince the most skeptical about the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills. If you suffer backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, urinary disorders or any form of kidney ills, use a tested kidney medicine.

A Clearfield citizen tells of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Could you demand more convincing proof of merit? Ask your neighbor!

Lewis E. Wise, mine, 404 River St., Clearfield, says: "While working in the mines I was caught with a pain in my back. I couldn't do any lifting or anything that caused me to bend over. I had no appetite and the pains in my limbs were severe. Doan's Kidney Pills being highly recommended to me I began their use and I noticed a change in my condition before taking half a box. On finishing two boxes of Doan's the pains in my back and lameness were all gone."

NOTE—Remington Game Loads are loaded exclusively in "Nitro Club" Waterproof Shells. Waterproof means just what it says.

Why Dealers Here in Town are selling so many Remington Game Loads

It doesn't take sportsmen long to get the ins and outs of anything new that's offered them.

When Remington announced the Remington Game Loads last year, not all the men who wanted to try them could do so. Because it was their first year and there weren't enough to go 'round.

But those who did shoot them told the others, and this season there is a demand for Remington Game Loads that has never been approached in the history of the loaded shell business.

Whether you are already a Game Load enthusiast or have yet to shoot your first box—you will be interested in the facts about powder we uncovered in our Bridgeport tests on loaded shells. These are given in the panel at the right.

To the practical minds of the Remington organization, these discoveries indicated that there was just one thing to be done—

Fix a safe working standard of velocity, pattern and penetration for each kind of small game.

Make this standard absolute. And load just the right amount of powder to give it—whether it takes an eighth dram more or an eighth dram less.

That is the theory and practice of game loads.

Uniform shooting results—instead of a hard and fast loading formula. Powder varies—Remington Game Loads do not.

Naturally, you won't find the weight of powder indicated on Remington Game Load boxes—because the weight is not fixed.

You do not find the name of the powder because Remington takes full responsibility for the shell complete—including the powder.

Go to your dealer's. Get one box of Remington Game Loads and shoot them. We'll leave the rest up to your judgment.

REMINGTON ARMS COMPANY, Inc.—New York City
Established 1816

These are the Facts disclosed by Remington's Ballistic Tests

A—A given weight of the same kind of powder doesn't always give the same velocity, pattern or penetration.

B—Powder varies batch by batch—even the same kind and make. One batch, for instance, gives a velocity of 525 feet per second. Another may fall as low as 540 feet per second.

C—This is nobody's fault. Powder comes that way.

D—The man who buys his shells by the weight and kind of powder—often misses a lot of game and never knows why.

Massage will usually instantly afford relief, also rubbing with a soft piece of flannel, dipped in alcohol. Another suggestion is to tie the affected part with a ribbon so as to stop the circulation for a little while. Compresses, either of hot or cold water, will be found to be very effective. If the cramp is in the leg, place the foot on the cold floor or stretch out the toes of the suffering foot, just when the cramp is starting.

Little John Had It Right.
The twelve-year-old twins learned a lesson in gift making when they poked fun at their five-year-old brother. 20 PER CENT OF NEW BOND ISSUE IS TO BE MATCHED BY COUNTY

Harrisburg, Sept. 10.—Paul D. Wright, Secretary of Highways, today said that if the voters of Pennsylvania in November approve the proposed $50,000,000 bond issue twenty per cent of that sum will be set aside by the Highway Department with which to meet the various counties on a 50-50 basis.

"If the proposed new bond issue of $50,000,000 is approved," said Mr. Wright, "$10,000,000 will be allocated to the counties on the same basis that the state-aid fund is allocated, and this money will be used on a 50-50 basis with individual counties in reconstruction or justified reconstruction on state highways."

Under the law state-aid funds are "ratably apportioned according to the mileage of township and county roads in the respective counties," in the ratio which this mileage bears to the total road mileage in the state.

On the November election ballot will be found four proposed constitutional amendments. The second of these four will provide for increasing the present bonded indebtedness of the state from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000, thereby giving another $50,000,000 to the Highway Department for road construction.

The first $50,000,000 has been expended. It was authorized by the voters in 1918, by a majority of 262,000. Since 1919 Pennsylvania has come from the mud to a place pre-eminent among American states.

Some weeks ago the Highway Department announced a 275-mile road construction program, to be completed late in 1924. This will exhaust all available funds. To continue road construction beyond that point it will be necessary to provide additional funds.

"I have no doubt," said Mr. Wright, "that when the time comes for the various Pennsylvania counties to meet the $10,000,000 on the 50-50 basis decided upon the various allocations will be met instantly. This construction, tying in with the primary highway system work, will hasten the day when Pennsylvania will have the best highway system in America."

TAKE ACTION ON PREVENTION OF HIGH COAL PRICE

Harrisburg, Sept. 10.—Speaking as the chief executive of the only anthracite producing state, Governor Pinchot today called upon the governors of 30 other anthracite consuming states to join him in seeking methods of safeguarding coal users against higher prices during the coming winter.

In a letter to the governors in which he told them he is directing an investigation in his own state of "means or methods of any and every kind which could be used to prevent gouging of the consumer" he suggested similar studies in each of the other states looking toward a personal conference concerning joint action later.

To Quiz Freight Rates. As an initial step in his own investigation he conferred with Chairman W. D. B. Ainsy or the Pennsylvania public service commission, which body he told President Coolidge in a letter last night he would ask to make a study of the reasonableness of anthracite freight rates within the state. He suggested to the President that the chief interstate commerce commission make a similar investigation of transportation rates of hard coal with a view to their readjustment.

The certain other factors, he pointed out in his letter to the governors, are so local, outside action could not influence them while there are others upon which joint action of the governors "would be useful in preventing extortion." Among the more local matters to which Governor Pinchot referred are the profits of coal dealers, such as wholesalers, retailers, jobbers and distributors.

Confer With Mine Bureau. The Governor also conferred today with officials of the state department of Mines which tonight made public figures of the annual distribution of anthracite from Pennsylvania to the largest consumers of coal among the states. These figures in tons were:

New York, 11,850,000; New Jersey, 7,250,000; Massachusetts, 3,490,000; Illinois, 1,789,000; Connecticut, 1,637,000; Wisconsin, 1,320,000; Michigan, 1,000,000; Maryland, 870,000; Minnesota, 700,000; Rhode Island, 590,000; and the District of Columbia, 530,000.

The figures were based on 1922 exports. They included 7,250,000 tons consumed in Pennsylvania.

Write Other States. Besides the governors of these states Mr. Pinchot sent his letter to the chief executives of the other New England states, and those of Delaware, Virginia and West Virginia, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Missouri, Nebraska, North and South Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Tennessee, Texas and Alabama.

Plans for a joint conference of the governors are indefinite and dependent, it was indicated, upon the results of the action they may take in response to Governor Pinchot's letter. No immediate preparations will be made for a meeting and it was said at the state capital none probably would be made until the return to Harrisburg of the Governor, who left late today for a two weeks' vacation.

MILK INSPECTORS OF ALL CITIES TO BE SENT TO BIG DAIRY CONGRESS

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 11.—Secretary of Agriculture, Frank Willits in receipt of an invitation which, in the interest of a better milk supply, he is passing on to the mayor of every city in Pennsylvania, proposing that the chief inspector or chemist of each municipality's dairy in-spedition staff be sent to the World's Dairy Congress. Thirty-nine nations will be represented at the Congress sessions, according to the most recent word received by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture from World's Dairy Congress officials.

Two hundred or more men and women who have attained preeminence in the production, manufacture, distribution and use in human feeding of milk and its products will speak.

Emphasis is to be laid on the most modern and effective means of guarding the milk supplies of cities, a subject which Secretary Willits considers to be of vital importance to city inspection office.

The opening sessions of the Dairy Congress will be held at Washington, D. C., on October 2 and 3. The meetings will be continued in Philadelphia on October 4 and at a banquet to be held in connection with the assembly at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Governor Pinchot will make an address.

From October 5 to 10 the Congress will convene at Syracuse, N. Y., and adjourn to attend the sessions of the Congress, Secretary Willits points out that, notwithstanding the efficiency of milk inspection services in the cities of Pennsylvania, it would materially contribute to their improvement if the chief inspector or chemist of each city could attend these important meetings and bring back to his municipality the latest developments in the field of government control.

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

Our total production of corn, cotton and hay is greater than wheat. And fruit is worth about as much. The value of livestock and dairy products surpasses that of wheat. Obviously wheat has lost the position it once held as an index factor.

The Country Gentleman sympathizes with the exclusive wheat farmer—and in forthcoming issues will offer him many worthwhile suggestions. So also will this great national weekly offer money-making facts and plans for those engaged in practically every other branch of farming. THE CROW DOOMED TO EXTINCTION BY FARMER AND SPORTSMAN; PREYS ON YOUNG CHICKS AS WELL AS WILD BIRDS

It has been estimated that each crow in the country destroys at least 12 eggs of useful game birds in the course of a year. Based on this statement alone, the evidence is sufficient to indicate this greatest of black-plumaged plunders.

For many years past little or no attention has been paid to the depredations of the crow. Sportsmen took a passing shot; the farmer rigged up a contraption of one kind or another in the cornfield and let the matter go at that.

Time has changed. Game is getting scarcer every year. The sportsman is beginning to realize at last that conservation must be considered and has commenced to take inventory of the causes that are fast helping to reduce the number of game birds to a foundling.

Of the many influences at work to depopulate the wild bird world the crow easily heads the list. Other vermin there are that prey on eggs and young birds, but of these the crow is the worst offender.

Statistics gathered by the United States Department of Agriculture, the various conservation organizations, by farmers and sportsmen in all parts of the country, prove beyond any doubt that the crow is a genuine menace.

Most of us who have simply looked upon the crow as an innocent sort of chap, noted chiefly for an alleged ability to fly in a straight line, will be astonished to get a real insight of this cunning, ill-mannered rascal.

Crow is a Menace
The counts on which this indictment is found cover the entire range of rascality. Nothing is too good for this devastating bird, nothing too small, nothing, even carrion, is beyond the scope of his appetite. As a robber of nests of game birds and destroyer of hens' eggs the crow has earned an enviable reputation. But this is only the beginning. The crow has been definitely known to destroy pigeons, the young of wildfowl, every species of marsh bird and upland game, even including rabbits.

When the snow is deep the crow will attack full-grown quail and even barnyard fowls. They damage corn and have been known to flock to orchards to feed upon apples, pears and other fruits.

Sportsmen of the country are espousing the extermination of the crow or at least removing a few millions of him until reparation, partly at least, can be had for the damage already done.

The crow's appetite knows no closed season—He's hunting all the time—night and day this marauder is at work reducing the numbers of game birds.

Most farmers consider the crow a genuine pest, else why the scarecrow in nearly every field. Sportsmen from knowledge of actual conditions, such as finding the crow's nest littered with broken shells of unborn birds, have come to the conclusion that the day of the crow must cease. The sportsmen of the nation, pleading before the court of conservation ask for murder charge arising over the poisoning of pretty Anne Danielson, wealthy Minneapolis girl.

The suspect refuses to talk about the charge or the diary but police allege that he courted Ellen Ross of Rochester, Minnesota, while having been through a marriage ceremony with Belle Parker, a preacher's daughter of Evansville, Wisconsin.

Police also say that they discovered what appears to be a form letter for use, in proposing to members of the heiress list. This list contains names of girls, with the amounts of their prospective wealth, health, and pulchritude.

Judge Bell's Pledge

In a letter to the voters of Clearfield County dated October 15, 1913, Singleton Bell, then a candidate for Judge, said:

The voters of this County have twice spoken their will against two terms for Judges, and I believe that the voice of the people was right. In a position of such power, the temptation to use its influence to build up a machine that will secure the re-election of the incumbent has often proved too strong to be resisted and that I may have no temptation to use the place for personal political purposes I PLEDGE MYSELF TO NOT BE A CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION.

PROPER FOOD FIRST REQUISITE OF BOY AND GIRL GOING TO SCHOOL

Harrisburg, Sept. 11. (United Press)—The human engine must be stoked with fuel of the proper kind and in the right quantity if it is to perform its work. Dr. Charles J. Hatfield, Philadelphia, director of Phipps Institute, declared today in an article on "Malnutrition" written for the State Department of Health in the weekly health talks instituted by Secretary Charles H. Miner. The article follows.

By Dr. CARLES J. HATFIELD
Written for Penna Department of Health.

With the opening of the school term, the subject of malnutrition and its attendant dangers occupies the minds of teachers and public health workers.

Malnutrition is impaired assimilation of food and therefore inadequate nourishment of the body. It may be too little food or food of such kind that it cannot be changed into the elements which sustain and build up the body.

The effects of malnutrition can be seen everywhere. It brings about lowered resistance to any infection; it causes weakness of muscles, even heart muscles, also of brain, lungs, stomach, liver, bowels, in fact all parts of the body. No one who is poorly nourished can expect to live as long or be as active as the average healthy person.

Among adults malnutrition is widespread and serious. For this reason the campaign begun by the State Department of Health to get every man and woman in the state to have the best doctor in the neighborhood give them a complete examination at least once a year is most important. If there be poor nutrition the cause can be found and the condition corrected.

But from the standpoint of community welfare the children are of even more importance than the grown people. If we allow many of the children of the state to suffer from improper nourishment, we shall have a weakened population, short-lived because they cannot resist disease and later, if they in turn become parents, the new generation will be weak. Therefore, the present interest in nutrition among children of pre-school age is sound. School and health authorities should see to it that every child have a chance for a well-nourished body.

J. M. Fay was named chairman of a committee to select an official headgear for the helmet, which will probably be worn at the ceremonial.

The cubs, each wearing yellow chrysanthemums, will meet at the Cricket field at 6:30 p. m. and at 7 o'clock sharp will march in an illuminated parade, moving from the Cricket field to Lexington avenue, to Ninth street, to Chestnut avenue, to Eleventh street, to Eleventh avenue, to Seventeenth street, to Sixth avenue, to Seventh street, to Jaffa Temple, where the ceremonial will be held at 8 o'clock.

The executive committee will meet at Bowers' barber shop on the evening of Thursday, September 13, to arrange further details and also complete plans for a ceremonial to be held at the Elks' home Friday, September 14.

MANY are the eyes that are turned to gaze with keen admiration on the well developed, healthy girl no matter where she may be—on the rapidly moving thoroughfare or gliding gracefully over the dance floor.

All eyes turn because we all appreciate the girl with the figure so firm and plump—the girl with radiantly red cheeks, cheeks that carry a touch of roses from nature's own garden—the girl with the sparkling eyes, keen and sharp—the girl with buoyancy and the swing of youth.
